16TH YEAR. NO. 272.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, APRIL 29, 1901.

TWO CENTS

COURT AGAIN IN FULL BLAST

East Liverpool Screen Ordinance Case Will Be Decided Tomorrow.

GRAND JURY BEGINS ITS WORK

Many Witnesses on Hand to Testify Against Dave Brown, the Assailant of Mrs. Williams—Suit of Stamm vs. the Co-Operative Pottery.

Lisbon, April 29.—(Special.)—The April term of common pleas court opened this morning. Judge Hole has announced that at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning he will hand down his opinion in the East Liverpool screen ordinance case.

A motion was argued today in the case of Mrs. Margaret A. Young against Robert H. Young, of East Palestine, asking that the defendant be required to pay the plaintiff alimony pending a settlement. The court sustained the motion and ordered Young to pay $50 within five days.

In the case of John Stamm against the Union Cooperative Pottery company, of East Liverpool, one of the oldest cases on the docket, the final report of the receiver was submitted and confirmed and distribution ordered. For his services the receiver was allowed $500 and the attorneys $400.

The case of John H. Morrison against Hannah Rudisill et al was settled, at the cost of the defendants. John Matthews, of Niles, and Miss Margaret McCormick, of Lisbon, were granted a marriage license and were married here today in St. George's Catholic church. They will reside in Niles.

The grand jury was empaneled at 10:15 this morning and began work at 10:30. L. V. Harris, of Salem, was chosen foreman after the court had given instructions. A number of those originally drawn to serve were excused, and John M. Stratton, of Salem; M. V. Dickinson, of Salem township; and Harry Johnson, Lewis Endley and Robert Johnson, of Center township, were called to complete the panel.

The first case to be investigated today is that against the colored youth, David Brown, who brutally assaulted Mrs. Laura Williams, of East Liverpool, recently. Witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear up to Thursday evening.

The firm of Glass & Campbell, of Salem, hold a judgment for $76.67 against Clifford H. Brown, rendered in a Salem court. The judgment has never been satisfied and they have entered suit here to force the sale of lots 852 and 966 in Appraisers' addition, of Salem, and lot B in Zadock's addition of Salem.

W. L. Hoffman was today appointed guardian of Frank Lawrence Mendenhall, of Salem, with $1,000 bond.

Mrs. Emma Bye was appointed guardian of her son, Lemuel S. Bye, and filed $3,000 bond.

Clyde V. Stoffel and Ruth J. Stephens, both of Wellsville, have been granted a marriage license.

Score Was 26 to 6.

A very interesting base ball game was played Saturday afternoon between the Northside Stars and the Blue Stars. Result, 26 to 6 for N. S.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEES ARE IN SESSION TODAY.

The conference committees of the Brotherhood and the Manufacturers' association are in session this afternoon.

At the time of the first meeting it was thought the parties to the conference could get together some time last week, but the committee from the Western association stated they would require some time to consider the various demands, and asked a continuance, which was granted. It now looks as if the dispute would

AN EXCITING CHASE INDULGED IN BY CONSTABLE MILLER AT WELLSVILLE.

William Moore, Arrested for Non-Support, Tried in Vain to Get Away.

Constable James Miller gave another demonstration of his sprinting ability when he arrested William Moore in Wellsville this morning.

Moore was arrested in Wellsville Saturday afternoon on a charge of non-support preferred by his wife. Constable Miller was about to bring him back to this city, where the charge was preferred, when Mr. Catlett's agreed to go on Moore's bond.

As soon as Moore was released he began to brag that he would skip the bond. Mr. Catlett heard of this and sent for Constable Miller again this morning. Miller found Moore in a downtown saloon in Wellsville, and as he passed in at the front door, Moore went out at the rear door on a double quick run. The constable lost no time in getting after him and overtook him after chasing him about two squares down the alley.

Moore says he did it for a joke, but the constable did not like that kind of joking, so he put the handcuffs on the joker and brought him to this city, where he was lodged in jail awaiting a trial before Justice McLane.

NO AGREEMENT.

IS NOW IN SIGHT BETWEEN PLUMBERS AND BOSSES.

Men Claim They Have Made Their Final Proposition to Their Employers.

Unless the members of the Plumbers' union change their minds, which is not likely, between now and tomorrow evening, there will not be a plumber at work on Wednesday.

The members claim they have made three concessions already since the formulation of the scale, and that they will make no further effort toward an amicable settlement unless the employers meet them at least half way.

They have held no meeting, but seem to be of one mind with reference to their actions after tomorrow night.

SHOT IN THE ARM.

ACCIDENT TO GEORGE BARRETT LAST NIGHT.

Was Examining a Weapon When It Was Discharged, Making a Painful Wound.

George Barrett was accidentally shot last night near the Thompson pottery. Barrett and a friend were coming down the track and were examining a revolver when it was discharged, the ball striking Barrett in the right arm and making a painful wound.

Barrett was taken to the office of Dr. W. J. Taylor on Second street, who extracted the bullet. He will leave tonight for his home at New Matamoras, where he will remain until his arm is better.

Without Mail for a Week.

Canton, April 29.—Farmers of the district four to five miles northwest of Canton along the Fulton road, have found an unusual storm experience. While Cantonians were able to resume business Monday or Tuesday, little could be done about these farms until Friday. The mail carrier, on horse back, was unable to get through for almost a week.

WHY MR. GEORGE HOLDS RECORDS

The Ex-Engineer Says He Has Refused the City Nothing Belonging to It.

PLANS MADE AT GREAT COST.

Acquired Not by Virtue of Holding Office, But by Hard Labor—City Now Has Originals or Duplicates of Plans of Uncompleted Streets.

Ex-City Engineer John A. George has the following to say regarding the controversy over the records of his office:

To the Editor of the News Review.

There appeared in the columns of your paper of Saturday evening, April 27, an article headed "George Holds On to the Records," which is misleading, and we feel that it does us an injustice, inasmuch as it places us in a wrong light before the public. Therefore we wish to state a few facts in the matter, that all may understand the situation more fully.

It is well known to the public that we have, both prior to being city engineer and during the time of holding that office, been doing a very extensive business in making private surveys; that now there is no part of the city in which we have not made surveys for private parties, and we have compiled records of the same at a cost of very great labor and very considerable expense, in order that we might be able to do business. These we have acquired, not in any sense by virtue of being city engineer, but by virtue of our own hard labor and diligence in business, and which has never cost the city one cent. These are the only records that "George" refuses to give up.

When we left city hall we left the great bulk of the records of the city there, and in the plainest terms endeavored to impress it on all with whom we had to do that as we examined our records that we would return to the city anything that had been taken by mistake and would so continue until all that rightfully belongs to the city is returned. We have never refused, nor do we now refuse to return to the city anything that belongs there that we may find as we look over the records.

We did make a special effort, however, to see that all the plans of the uncompleted streets were left with the city, so that the work might be taken up and carried on. The city has now in its possession either the originals or exact duplicates of all and anything that we have or had, except what we have in our head.

As to the section of the revised statutes, we simply remark that a person of ordinary intelligence does not need to turn to the law to find out that there is a penalty for stealing, neither does he have to search legal documents to know that in this land of ours the state constitution guarantees to every man the fruits of his honest toil; so that the legal phase of the case gives us no uneasiness whatever.

With malice toward none and charity for all, we are,

Yours truly,
JOHN A. GEORGE.

THE MARKET STOCKED.

Ten Thousand Pounds of Oleo And Butterine Arrive for Local Merchants.

For several days the East Liverpool grocers have been out of oleomargarine and butterine. This morning their supply was replenished. A refrigerator car came in with 10,000 pounds of the artificial butter, consigned to local merchants.

This looks like a big amount, but a prominent local grocer said this morning that the shipment was not an unusual one. About the same amount comes in about every ten days. This means that East Liverpool and vicinity is consuming oleo at the rate of about 1,000 pounds a day.

CHILD IN CONVULSIONS.

Mother En Route to This City Had to Leave the Train Hurriedly.

Mrs. Maria Owens, who resides at New Cumberland, and who had been visiting friends at a down-river town, was a passenger eastbound on No. 360 yesterday afternoon, accompanied by her little two-year-old daughter en route for a continuation of their visit with East Liverpool friends. When nearing Freeman's Station, the little daughter was suddenly thrown into spasms or convulsions, says the Toronto Commercial, and Mrs. Owens was compelled to abandon the train at that point.

A telephone message hastily summoned Dr. Anderson, of New Cumberland, who met the mother and daughter at the Ohio shore and accompanied them home. The physician's efforts were successful, as the little one is reported all right this morning, and will fully recover, although not much hopes were entertained when the child was first taken from the train at Freeman's yesterday afternoon.

CARS OFF THE TRACK.

Traffic on the Street Railway Heavy Despite a Number of Minor Mishaps.

Owing to the pleasant weather traffic on the street railway lines was very heavy yesterday, and more than the usual number of accidents were reported. Summer car 33 was off the track at Sixth and Franklin in the afternoon, and No. 16 was disabled on the Wellsville road by a broken trolley. The car had to be towed to the barn. No. 36 was off at the old Sixth street switch on Saturday evening, and a number of other accidents occurred at intervals during Sunday.

At 5:30 Saturday evening Car No. 15, in charge of Motorman Henderson, jumped the track at the east end of the pumping station and ran within a few inches of the building. The car was crowded with passengers and a long delay was caused while the car was being replaced.

WORK AT THE UNION.

Slipmakers Already Employed—Clay Shops Are to Start Next Month.

Slipmakers were put to work at the Union pottery this morning, and will be engaged throughout the week.

It is the intention of those in charge to begin work in the clay shops next Monday. Robert Hawkins will have charge of this department for the present.

For more than a year some meddlesome individual or individuals have been engaged in writing anonymous letters to residents of this city, and recently the practice has reached such proportions that it has been determined to put a stop to it.

It would seem from the train of the letters that the object of the senders was merely to annoy people, but it is believed that there a motive far deeper and more important than appears on the surface.

Although the uptown streets were thronged with people on Saturday night, there was a marked absence of disorder, and but three unfortunate fell into the hands of the police.

A. P. Gaskill overestimated his capacity for booze Saturday night, and when he met Chief Thompson in the Midway had had a few more drinks than he could comfortably carry. The chief advised him to go home, but he did not heed the warning and was arrested by Thompson not long afterward on Sixth street. He was arraigned this morning and fined $6.60 by Mayor Davidson.

Officer Dawson picked up "Chongeye" Carraher Saturday and placed him in jail. The charge against him is vagrancy.

Chief Thompson and Fireman Wood arrested George Kane on a charge of fighting Saturday night. It was afterward learned that another man had been the aggressor and an investigation is being made today.

Fireman Wood this morning took William Race to the Canton workhouse, where he will remain a good part of the summer.

A son of Charles Morgan, who was arrested on a charge of intoxication last week, appeared at city hall this morning and paid the old man's fine.

Carraher was fined $50 and costs and will go to the works tomorrow. It is stated by the authorities that the vagrants and bums will be proceeded against without ceremony in the future and the practice of loafing upon the street corners will be broken up if they have to send every loafer in the city to the workhouse.

"Red" Moore was run in by Officer Morris this afternoon on a charge of vagrancy. It was the intention of the authorities to send him over to keep "Chongeye" company, but "Red" said he was merely collecting a few pieces of coin he had distributed among his friends. Mayor Davidson gave him until morning to get out of the town. If he is found here in the morning he will go to Canton.

Officer Mahoney and Fireman Bryan caught a crowd of small boys on Thompson's green playing cards. They were brought before the mayor, but it could not be shown that they were playing for anything, and they were released.

CRUSADE BEGAN ON SATURDAY

"Chongeye" Carraher to Go to the

"Red" Moore Taken This Afternoon—A Few Other Offenders.

Although the uptown streets were thronged with people on Saturday night, there was a marked absence of disorder, and but three unfortunates fell into the hands of the police.

A. P. Gaskill overestimated his capacity for booze Saturday night, and when he met Chief Thompson in the than he could comfortably carry. The chief advised him to go home, but he did not heed the warning and was arrested by Thompson not long afterward on Sixth street. He was arraigned this morning and fined $6.60

by Mayor Davidson.

Officer Dawson picked up "Chong-eye" Carraher Saturday and placed him in jail. The charge against him is vagrancy.

Chief Thompson and Fireman Wood arrested George Kane on a charge of fighting Saturday night. It was afterward learned that another man had been the aggressor and an investigation is being made today.

Fireman Wood this morning took William Race to the Canton workhouse, where he will remain a good part of the summer.

A son of Charles Morgan, who was arrested on a charge of intoxication last week, appeared at city hall this morning and paid the old man's fine.

Carraher was fined $50 and costs and will go to the works tomorrow.
It is stated by the authorities that the vagrants and bums will be proceeded against without ceremony in the future and the practice of loafing upon the street corners will be broken up if they have to send every loafer in the city to the workhouse.

"Red" Moore was run in by Officer Morris this afternoon on a charge of vagrancy. It was the intention of the authorities to send him over to keep "Chongeye" company, but "Red" said he was merely collecting a few pieces of coin he had distributed among his friends. Mayor Davidson gave him until morning to get out of the town.
If he is found here in the morning
he will go to Canton.

Officer Mahoney and Fireman Bryan caught a crowd of small boys on Thompson's green playing cards. They were brought before the mayor, but it could not be shown that they were playing for anything, and they were released.

POSTAL AUTHORITIES LOOKING FOR A SNEAK.

For more than a year some meddlesome individual or individuals have been engaged in writing anonymous letters to residents of this city, and recently the practice has reached such proportions that it has been determined to put a stop to it.

It would seem from the train of the letters that the object of the senders was merely to annoy people, but it is believed that there a motive far deeper and more important than appears on the surface.

The person or persons who indulge in the practice seem to take a special delight in annoying and mystifying young ladies. Ladies whose marriages have been announced were their prey and a large number have received letters from an unknown source.

Another class who have been the recipients of these missives are young folks connected with the various departments of church work in East Liverpool. The letters contained threats and phrases which apparently meant nothing.

Within the past three or four weeks the practice has been indulged in with such frequency and persistence that the matter has been referred to the postal authorities and they are now at work on the case.

In an attempt to fix the responsibility for the origin of these letters innocent parties have been blamed, and it has required a great deal of hard work among the officials of young people's societies to prevent the various organization from suffering by reason of accusations and suspicions falling upon members.

It is thought the guilty parties will be brought to justice within a very short time, as the postoffice authorities seldom miss finding the right party.

Postmaster Surles was questioned concerning the matter today, but would not talk of the affair, other than to say that the case was in the hands of the authorities.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEES ARE IN SESSION TODAY.

The conference committees of the Brotherhood and the Manufacturers' association are in session this afternoon.

At the time of the first meeting it was thought the parties to the conference could get together some time last week, but the committee from the Western association stated they would require some time to consider the various demands, and asked a continuance, which was granted.

It now looks as if the dispute would be settled one way or the other in a very short time, as the men are perfectly familiar with every detail of the demands they are making and

PRODIGAL'S RETURN.

Sam Cochran is Back, And Patterson, Who Disappeared With Him, is Coming.

Sam Cochran, who so mysteriously disappeared in company with John Patterson a few days ago, returned to the East End Saturday evening. He stated that he had left Patterson at East Palestine. In conversation with other boys Cochran stated that he and Patterson had started for the west, but that Patterson "craw-fished" by the time they reached Wellsville, and wanted to go to Sebring. They tied up the skiff at Wellsville and started for Sebring.

Cochran secured a position in one of the potteries there, but Patterson failed to get work. Cochran wouldn't stay without his chum, so they went to East Palestine, where Patterson stopped to visit a relative and Cochran came on to East Liverpool. The skiff will be returned to Mr. Riley, and the two prodigals will continue to reside in the East End.

NARROW ESCAPE.

A Child Falls Over the River Bank And Has a Narrow Escape.

The three-year-old daughter of George Snowden fell over the river bank and came very near being drowned yesterday afternoon. The bank where the little one went down is very steep and extends to the water. The child rolled about half way down when its foot caught in some roots and it was stopped.

George McKinnon, who happened to be looking after his skiff near there, heard the child's cries and rescued it before it could kick loose from the roots. It had wandered from the house and its parents would probably have not known what became of it had it not been for the timely aid of Mr. McKinnon.

GAS EXPLOSION.

Wrecked a Stove And Gave Miss Anna Ruble Painful Burns.

Miss Anna Ruble, who resides on St. George street, was painfully burned about the face, hands and arms by a slight gas explosion Saturday afternoon. She had turned on the gas in the kitchen stove and was slow in lighting it. The top pieces of the stove were blown off and Miss Ruble's face, hand and arms were exposed to the flames.

Dr. F. F. Davis, who was called, dressed the wounds. They were not serious, but the lady may be scarred by the accident.

Italians' Sunday Diversion.

The Italians who reside on the hill above the Smith addition indulged in a sort of "free-for-all" fight Sunday afternoon. Nobody was much hurt, and the dark-skinned scrappers all stayed away from the "squire's" office, doubtless remembering the last fight which was settled there, when all the participants were equally fined.

Building Dry Run Bridge.

The stone work on the bridge at Dry run was begun this morning. This work will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible, much to the delight of the residents of that vicinity.

Bricklayers Finish Today.

The bricklayers completed their work on the new addition to the Laughlin plant today. This addition will be completed in a very short time.

At Work on the Grading.

The contract for the grading of the first addition of the Supplee Land company was let Saturday and the work was begun this morning.

Three Conversions.

There were three conversions at the Second U. P. church last night.

The house was well filled. The meetings will continue in charge of Rev. A. H. Kaylor.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Rev. J. R. Greene spent the day in Pittsburg on business.

The well at the Laughlin plant is now drilled to a depth of 60 feet.

Frank Allibaugh is having two of his houses on Mulberry street painted.

The kilnhands at the Globe pottery are loafing today, all the kilns being full.

Richard Leroy Chambers attended the National League base ball game at Pittsburg Saturday afternoon.

William Kline, of Sistersville, will move his family and household effects to the East End next Wednesday. He will reside in Helena.

Work on improving the T. F. Anderson property was begun this morning. The bed of Anderson's run will be widened at this point and a new stone wall built.

A GREAT COUNTY.

Columbiana Takes High Rank, and Her Prospects Are Excellent.

Columbiana county ranks among the great counties of the state. It is the greatest county for newspapers outside of the big cities. Our people support six dailies, nineteen weeklies and one semi-weekly. This proves that we are great readers and therefore intelligent. The various manufacturing establishments in the county are carried on with wonderful skill and success. The potteries of East Liverpool, as now conducted, are able to compete with the world. Knowledge and skill have brought this about. The great machine shops at Salem have turned out such excellent machinery that their engines have earned a world wide reputation. The high skill displayed at Lisbon in making tin is acknowledged on all hands and recently an inspector of the great tin trust said: "The Lisbon mill is one of the best in the country and it is conducted by highly skilled men." So with all the other great industries of the county.

No county has so many good towns, East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salem, Lisbon, East Palestine, Leetonia, Salineville, Columbiana, New Waterford, Hanoverton, Rogers, all good towns, some of them exceedingly lively. The population, the business, the wealth of the county excell all others outside the great cities. Let us all join in keeping up the boom for the county and in the next ten years its great resources will be fully developed.—Ohio Patriot.

West Virginia—Fair, continued warm today and tomorrow; winds mostly easterly.

FOUGHT WITH TRAMPS.

One of Their Opponents May Be Fatally Shot, Another Wounded.

Clearfield, Pa., April 29.—A fight between tramps and a number of the employes of the Clearfield Fire Brick works, near here, resulted in one of the men belonging to the works being fatally shot and another seriously wounded. The tramps and the brick makers met near the Clearfield and Mahoning bridge. Both parties had been drinking and a quarrel ensued.

The tramps opened fire with revolvers, it was alleged, and their opponents, not being armed, responded with stones. G. M. Fadiston was shot through the head and may die. A man named Layton was shot through the legs. A posse was formed by the sheriff of the county and 13 tramps answering the description of those who participated in the affray were run down and placed under arrest.

GEN. CAILLES ESCAPED.

Americans Surprised His Camp, at Dugot-Dugot.

Manila, April 29.—Captain Wilson Chase, with a detachment of the Twenty-first infantry, on April 26, surprised the camp of the insurgent General Cailles, at Dugot-Dugot, situated nine miles northeast of Cavintie, in the province of Laguna. Cailles was at his camp at the time of the American attack, but managed to escape. Captain Chase's force captured his adjutant general, five other of his staff officers, 14 men, 20 rifles large amount of ammunition and stores and all the papers and personal effects of the Filipino general. The insurgent Major Velo was killed during the engagement, as were Corporal McGill and Private Tipps, both belonging to Company A, of the Twenty-first. Several columns of the American troops continued vigorously to pursue General Cailles.

General Cailles recently offered a reward of $10,000 for the head of Captain Edward N. ones, Jr., of the Eighth infantry.

Murdered by an Italian.

Pittsburg, April 29.—Joseph Hoffman, 24 years old, of 856 Lang alley, Allegheny, was stabbed three times by an Italian said to have been Ynamzio Denna, of 1610 East street, Allegheny, and died at the Allegheny General hospital. Denna escaped, but Carnello Bartello, a friend, who was with him and who is said to have been implicated in the killing, was arrested. The scene of the stabbing was near the corner of Hope and Robinson streets, at the north end of the railroad bridge, which crosses at Tenth street. Hoffman met Denna and Bartello, who were pushing a small cart such as Italian fruit vendors use. In some manner a quarrel arose. Just how, no person seems to know. The only man found that could tell is Bartello, and he refused to talk.

FRANK SOUTHERNERS

Dislike Negroes and Do Not Hesitate to Say So, Dr. Parkhurst Asserts.

NORTHERN MAN LIES ABOUT IT

Condemns the Indiscriminating Act of Giving the Negro the Right to Vote—Referred to Alleged Recent Criticism of Governor Candler.

New York, April 29.—The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst preached Sunday at the Madison Square Presbyterian church on topics connected with his recent trip south. He also made an incidental reply to Governor Candler, who was reported as having denounced those northerners who took an interest in educational matters in the south.

Dr. Parkhurst said in part that the party of northern people who recently made the trip referred to did it not because they had any special interest in the south as a distinct section, but because they were conscious of the unity which makes the north and south members of each other. The conference held at Winston-Salem, in North Carolina, he said, was characterized by the utmost frankness on both sides, and yet from first to last not an embittering word was spoken. Referring to Governor Candler's criticisms, Dr. Parkhurst said they would not have been made, "had the governor of Georgia, as did the governor of North Carolina, come into direct touch with the personnel of the conference, or for five minutes respired the atmosphere which the conference exhaled."

Referring to the estimation in which the people of the south and those of the north hold the negro, Dr. Parkhurst said:

"The southerner does not like the negro any better than the average northerner does, and the two carry themselves toward the negro with just about the same amount of Christian consideration—only of the two, the southern white man has perhaps this advantage, that he does not make quite so flamboyant a pretense of loving the negro as his northern confrere does. The southern white man dislikes the negro, and owns up to it. The white man in the north dislikes the negro, and lies about it."

The preacher said further: "The indiscriminating act by which the negroes had conferred upon them the right to vote was one of those blunders that it is not easy to escape from after once it is committed, but which it would seem we ought to have had northern statesmanship sufficiently intelligent to prevent."

He said in part that both the northern and southern friends of the negro were advising him to keep out of politics and to work to prepare himself for what God had in store for him.

TO BUILD SCHOOLS IN SOUTH.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Looked to For Generous Gifts.

New York, April 29.—Great hopes are centered in young John D. Rockefeller for help in the movement started for the rejuvenation of the deficient school system of the south. He has just returned from a ten days' trip to southern educational centers, with a group of distinguished New Yorkers, Bostonians and Philadelphians, who have in this way sought to create a favorable sentiment that may set in motion a movement which is declared to be more important to the south than any in its history since the war.

Young Rockefeller was accompanied on his trip by his builder, who made careful notes at certain points on the journey and who has returned to New York prepared to execute the philanthropic plans which the young man of many millions is believed to have formed.

The plan as finally launched marked a radical departure from all former schemes for education in that part of the country. For the first time in history northern men and southern men have joined in a movement for universal education in the south.

The plan is: First—To wage a campaign for universal free schools so as to force the legislatures to make bigger appropriations and to create a sentiment among the people which will demand such schools. Second—The liberal use of money in building up industrial schools and institutions of higher learning. If expectations are realized sums exceeding any former gifts to southern education will be made by men of wealth to carry out the latter feature.

GOV. CANDLER EXPLAINS.

Asserted There Were Many Exaggerations in Alleged Statement.

Atlanta, Ga., April 29.—Governor Allen D. Candler made a statement regarding his reported utterances at Savannah on the negro question, which were sent to many northern papers. The governor said there are many exaggerations in the clippings from the papers which have reached him, but that his remarks as published first in the Savannah paper are substantially correct.

ed first in the Savannah paper are substantially correct.

"However," said the governor, "the statement that I said that 'the people of the south did not need, did not want, and would not have the assistance of the damned Yankees in this matter,' as published in some papers, is absolutely false."

Aged Veteran Suicides.

Cleveland, April 29.—Joseph Glenning, of Chicago, committed suicide by throwing himself underneath a freight train in the Lake Shore yards at Collinwood. Glenning was between 60 and 70 years old, and a veteran of the Civil War.

Postmaster Dorr Died Suddenly.

Buffalo, April 29.—Postmaster Samuel G. Dorr died suddenly of heart disease.

CALLAHAN CLEARED.

Found Not Guilty of the Cudahy Kidnaping—Judge Gave the Jury a Scoring.

Omaha, Neb., April 29.—James Callahan was declared not guilty of any complicity in the kidnaping of Edward Cudahy, Jr.

Judge Baker studied the wording of the verdict for several minutes in silence, as though he had doubted the evidence of his ears. Then, addressing the jury, he rebuked them in the most vigorous terms.

"If Callahan had made his own choice of a jury," the court said, "he could not have selected 12 men who would have served them more faithfully. If the state, for its part, had made the selection, I know of no men it could have named who could have been less careful of its interests. The jury is discharged without the compliments of the court, and the prisoner is likewise turned loose as to this trial, I presume, to continue the criminal practices in which you have failed to check him. I do not know what motive actuated you in reaching this decision, but I hope none of you will ever appear again in this jury box."

The jury evidently was ill at ease during this arraignment, but did not make any response, and filed rapidly from the box as soon as it was at liberty. In the hallway Callahan mumbled his thanks and shook the jury-men's hands.

Chief of Police Donohue said he would urge Mr. Cudahy to at once withdraw the proffered reward of $5,000 for the apprehension of Pat Crowe.

"Crowe might easily make an appearance and claim the reward himself," said Chief Donohue, "as the evidence against him is no more direct than that against Callahan."

"In my 18 years of experience with criminals I have never heard more absolutely convincing evidence than that presented against Callahan."

"There was not a single flaw in the testimony and the evidence of guilt was overwhelming. From the information I have secured as to the sentiment of the jury, I believe that its decision was based largely on the theory that the victim of the affair was a wealthy man and, as such, is able to suffer. Two of the jurors, I am informed, expressed their opinion that no kidnaping had occurred and they had taken their oath as jurors with this conviction in their minds."

"I do not approve of any reward being offered in a case of this kind, and believe that it operated in the Callahan trial for the acquittal of the accused. Several times I heard the expression that the police had simply concocted a plot to send an innocent man to the penitentiary in the hope of securing the reward."

"The $50,000 offered for the conviction of the three men concerned in the crime, however, will stand."

Rev. Walter K. Wilson, of the Disciple church, Uhrichsville, O., has been arrested on a charge of bigamy.

The Steubenville district conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held at Bloomingdale on June 10-12.

There are half a dozen cases of smallpox in Bellaire and no pest house and the patients are under guard in their homes.

The new double block electric signals on the Panhandle are now completed from Burgettstown to Colliers and are in use.

Deputy Game Warden Dangeleson, of Massillon, will begin a warfare against carp in the streams and lakes. He says carp kill the game fish.

Four hundred friends of Railroad Commissioner Morris, of Youngstown, gave a farewell reception to him and Mrs. Morris prior to their departure for Columbus.

W. A. Thompson, of Warren, has one of the finest collections of Indian relics in the country. He has taken them to Buffalo to exhibit at the Pan-American exposition.

A message from Burgettstown states that a new oil field has been opened there. Oil was struck on the Silas Duncan farm, two and one-half miles northwest of the town.

Miss Martha Clark, formerly a well known school teacher of this county, died in Pittsburg last week. She was born in Hammondsville and was a sister of Dr. Alexander Clark.

A case of smallpox has developed at the Belmont county infirmary, near East Richland, and it is feared that other cases may result, owing to the exposure of the other inmates.

William Swaney, an aged resident of Canaan, pared a corn on his right foot, and used a patent nostrum on it. Gangrene resulted and, to save his life, the limb was amputated just below the knee.

William Robinson, an aged mill-worker of Irondale, who is no longer able to compete in the struggle for his daily bread, and is without friends has been taken to the Jefferson county infirmary.

Consolidation of trolley lines now in operation or in process of construction has been decided upon and will form a continuous line from Youngstown to Erie, Pa., via Sharon, Meadville and Cambridge Springs, Pa.

Farmers living in the vicinity of Richville, who came to Canton Saturday for the first time since the blizzard, say the road between Canton and Richville is yet almost impassable. Drifts of snow three feet deep are yet seen.

An interesting figure at the convention of postmasters in session at Columbus, was Walter J. Raley, postmaster at Kent, O. Mr. Raley was appointed when 22, and it is claimed is the youngest postmaster in Uncle Sam's service.

The same afternoon the police discovered 16 sticks of dynamite in an old boiler at the Diamond company's property which was recently burned.

Widow Gets $10,000.

Youngstown, April 29.—Conductor Milton S. Heckman, while running a train on the Lake Shore railroad, was instantly killed in an accident, and his widow brought suit here and secured a verdict for $10,000. The company carried the case to the circuit court which has affirmed the judgment. Heckman left a widow and four children in straitened circumstances.

FRANK SOUTHERNERS

Dislike Negroes and Do Not Hesitate to Say So, Dr. Parkhurst Asserts.

NORTHERN MAN LIES ABOUT IT

Condemns the Indiscriminating Act of Giving the Negro the Right to Vote—Referred to Alleged Recent Criticism of Governor Candler.

New York, April 29.—The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst preached Sunday at the Madison Square Presbyterian church on topics connected with his recent trip south. He also made an incidental reply to Governor Candler, who was reported as having denounced those northerners who took an interest in educational matters in the south.

Dr. Parkhurst said in part that the party of northern people who recently made the trip referred to did it not because they had any special interest in the south as a distinct section, but because they were conscious of the unity which makes the north and south members of each other. The conference held at Winston-Salem, in North Carolina, he said, was characterized by the utmost frankness on both sides, and yet from first to last not an embittering word was spoken. Referring to Governor Candler's criticisms, Dr. Parkhurst said they would not have been made, "had the governor of Georgia, as did the governor of North Carolina, come into direct touch with the personnel of the conference, or for five minutes respired the atmosphere which the conference exhaled."

Referring to the estimation in which the people of the south and those of the north hold the negro, Dr. Parkhurst said:

"The southerner does not like the negro any better than the average northerner does, and the two carry themselves toward the negro with just about the same amount of Christian consideration—only of the two, the southern white man has perhaps this advantage, that he does not make quite so flamboyant a pretense of loving the negro as his northern confrere does. The southern white man dislikes the negro, and owns up to it. The white man in the north dislikes the negro, and lies about it."

The preacher said further: "The indiscriminating act by which the negroes had conferred upon them the right to vote was one of those blunders that it is not easy to escape from after once it is committed, but which it would seem we ought to have had northern statesmanship sufficiently intelligent to prevent."

He said in part that both the northern and southern friends of the negro were advising him to keep out of politics and to work to prepare himself for what God had in store for him.

TO BUILD SCHOOLS IN SOUTH.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Looked to For Generous Gifts.

New York, April 29.—Great hopes are centered in young John D. Rockefeller for help in the movement started for the rejuvenation of the deficient school system of the south. He has just returned from a ten days' trip to southern educational centers, with a group of distinguished New Yorkers, Bostonians and Philadelphians, who have in this way sought to create a favorable sentiment that may set in motion a movement which is declared to be more important to the south than any in its history since the war.

Young Rockefeller was accompanied on his trip by his builder, who made careful notes at certain points on the journey and who has returned to New York prepared to execute the philanthropic plans which the young man of many millions is believed to have formed.

The plan as finally launched marked a radical departure from all former schemes for education in that part of the country. For the first time in history northern men and southern men have joined in a movement for universal education in the south.

The plan is: First—To wage a campaign for universal free schools so as to force the legislatures to make bigger appropriations and to create a sentiment among the people which will demand such schools. Second—The liberal use of money in building up industrial schools and institutions of higher learning. If expectations are realized sums exceeding any former gifts to southern education will be made by men of wealth to carry out the latter feature.

GOV. CANDLER EXPLAINS.

Asserted There Were Many Exaggerations in Alleged Statement.

Atlanta, Ga., April 29.—Governor Allen D. Candler made a statement regarding his reported utterances at Savannah on the negro question, which were sent to many northern papers. The governor said there are many exaggerations in the clippings from the papers which have reached him, but that his remarks are published first in the Savannah paper are substantially correct.

"However," said the governor, "the statement that I said that 'the people of the south did not need, did not want, and would not have the assistance of the damned Yankees in this matter,' as published in some papers, is absolutely false."

Aged Veteran Suicides.

Cleveland, April 29.—Joseph Glenning, of Chicago, committed suicide by throwing himself underneath a freight train in the Lake Shore yards at Collinwood. Glenning was between 60 and 70 years old, and a veteran of the Civil War.

Postmaster Dorr Died Suddenly.

Buffalo, April 29.—Postmaster Samuel G. Dorr died suddenly of heart disease.

CALLAHAN CLEARED.

Found Not Guilty of the Cudahy Kidnaping—Judge Gave the Jury a Scoring.

Omaha, Neb., April 29.—James Callahan was declared not guilty of any complicity in the kidnaping of Edward Cudahy, Jr.

Judge Baker studied the wording of the verdict for several minutes in silence, as though he had doubted the evidence of his ears. Then, addressing the jury, he rebuked them in the most vigorous terms.

"If Callahan had made his own choice of a jury," the court said, "he could not have selected 12 men who would have served them more faithfully. If the state, for its part, had made the selection, I know of no man it could have named who could have been less careful of its interests. The jury is discharged without the compliments of the court, and the prisoner is likewise turned loose as to this trial, I presume, to continue the criminal practices in which you have failed to check him. I do not know what motive actuated you in reaching this decision, but I hope none of you will ever appear again in this jury box."

The jury evidently was ill at ease during this arraignment, but did not make any response, and filed rapidly from the box as soon as it was at liberty. In the hallway Callahan mumbled his thanks and shook the jury-men's hands.

Chief of Police Donohue said he would urge Mr. Cudahy to at once withdraw the proffered reward of $5,000 for the apprehension of Pat Crowe.

"Crowe might easily make an appearance and claim the reward himself," said Chief Donohue, "as the evidence against him is no more direct than that against Callahan."

"In my 18 years of experience with criminals I have never heard more absolutely convincing evidence than that presented against Callahan."

"There was not a single flaw in the testimony and the evidence of guilt was overwhelming. From the information I have secured as to the sentiment of the jury, I believe that its decision was based largely on the theory that the victim of the affair was a wealthy man and, as such, is able to suffer. Two of the jurors, I am informed, expressed their opinion that no kidnaping had occurred and they had taken their oath as jurors with this conviction in their minds."

"I do not approve of any reward being offered in a case of this kind, and believe that it operated in the Callahan trial for the acquittal of the accused. Several times I heard the expression that the police had simply concocted a plot to send an innocent man to the penitentiary in the hope of securing the reward."

"The $50,000 offered for the conviction of the three men concerned in the crime, however, will stand."

ANOTHER FRIGHTFUL WARNING.

It was a distressingly sad story which the News Review had to chronicle on Saturday regarding the death of a little girl, who had been the joy of a happy household. Caught by cruel flames while engaged in childish play, the little one was condemned to the most agonizing death of which the human mind can form any conception. The end came, not immediately, but after a night of suffering that must have seemed well-nigh endless to the little victim.

The fact that death in this form has become exceedingly common mitigates none of its horrors. This community has been repeatedly shocked in the past few months by such unnecessary occurrences. Certainly unnecessary; for, as the News Review has pointed out before, a few cents' worth of wire, in the form of a screen, stretched in front of fire-places, would prevent nine-tenths of the deaths that result from burning. There should be a law in every state forbidding the use of unprotected grates. It would save hundreds of lives yearly and avert incalculable misery. And law or no law, the householder who does not see that his fire-place has such protection but leaves it as an open death-trap for infancy and helpless old age is certainly censurable. East Liverpool and vicinity have surely had enough of frightful warnings so that everybody ought to be convinced of the necessity of abolishing the unprotected grate.

BRYAN'S AMBITION.

William J. Bryan is credited by Editor Edward Rosewater, of the Omaha Bee, with the ambition of becoming governor of Nebraska. "If elected governor," says Mr. Rosewater, "he will hope to secure a Democratic legislature, in which event he will seek an election to the United States senate to succeed Gov. Detrick, whose term will expire in 1905. From the best information that I can get I really believe that Mr. Bryan will not look for the presidential nomination in 1904."

Editor Rosewater's remarks concerning the political future of Mr. Bryan are interesting. Nevertheless, it should be recalled that immediately after election day last year the New York Sun printed what was alleged to have been an authoritative statement from Mr. Bryan to the effect that if he could not be elected to the presidency no candidate of his party should ever be elected as long as he was alive. At the time this was interpreted to be a threat on the part of Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Bryan, having twice been defeated for the highest office in the land, if he were a good party man, would have the grace to rest on his political oars for a time and let some stronger man try his fortunes. But it is rule or ruin with Bryan. That was made plain by his domination of the St. Louis convention. He compelled that body, against the best judgment of the best Democrats, to reaffirm the Chicago platform, defunct free trade heresy, socialism and all. Bryan will be the whole thing in Democracy or nothing. If his party were wise, he would be nothing. But his party is seldom wise, and he is quite likely to continue his course of obstinacy and pile up more defeats for it. If the Democrats can stand it, Republicans certainly can. But isn't he a nice kind of a man to rule a once-great party?

A MINISTER'S BAD BREAK.

The Rev. Dr. Rainsford, of New York, used the expression "damned rot" in a speech, and is now being called down, both by the press and by his brethren in the ministry. He deserves all the censure he is receiving. Profane language is inexcusable everywhere; it certainly has no place on a minister's lips. People look to men who occupy pulpits to set an example, and one such exhibition of vulgarity and bad taste on the part of a clergyman is likely to more than offset all the good he ever accomplished by his preaching.

A man was fined in East Liverpool the other day for profane and indecent language. The action of the mayor in imposing the fine was most commendable. If the statute which provides a penalty for such offenses were munity, instead, as is generally the enforced more frequently in every community, instead, as is generally the case, of being suffered to rest as a dead letter, it would have a wholesome effect, and ladies and Christian men could walk the street without danger of hearing expressions that shock all their finer feelings. Boys and striplings think it smart to swear. There never was a greater error. Any fool can do it. Instead of marking the man addicted to it as smarter than his fellows, profanity stamps its user as ill-bred and unrefined. And a clergyman who uses such expressions as that attributed to Dr. Rainsford will soon cease to be "reverend" in the popular estimation, whatever title he may wear before his name.

Democrat suspense in Ohio will soon be over and the untrifled will know whether they must shout for John R. McLean's man, Tom L. Johnson's man or some other man's man.

There is every prospect that the Maine will not only be remembered but resurrected. She possesses actual as well as historic value.

A Kicking Horse's Tail Fastened to the Double-Tree.

A novel plan has been adopted by a teamster engaged in hauling brick up Kossuth street to the Pennsylvania avenue improvement.

One of a team of work horses is a bad kicker and to prevent the animal's antics, the owner has tied the animal's tail to the double-tree and he can be seen kicking and jumping all the way up the hill. The residents of Kossuth street are very indignant and the matter has been reported to the Humane society.

John Wheatley.

John Wheatley died at his home on St. George street, East End, at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning, of Bright's disease, from which he has been a sufferer for a number of years. He was 56 years old and is survived by a wife and several children. The funeral will take place Wednesday morning at 8:45 from St. Aloysius church, and interment will be made at the Catholic cemetery.

James Harrison.

George Harrison, of Lisbon street, received word this morning of the death, on April 13, of his brother, James Harrison, of Burslem, England. He was 37 years of age and single. He is survived by one brother and two sisters.

In a later mail Mr. George Harrison received word of the death at Burslem, April 3, of Harry Hobson, a nephew.

A Cat's Extraordinary Leap.

In the latter part of 1880, at a time when the Washington monument had reached a height of 160 feet, an adventurous and patriotic cat ascended the interior of the shaft by means of the ropes and tubing. When the workmen arrived at the upper landing the next morning and began to prepare for the day's work, pussy took fright and, springing to the outer edge, took a "header" of 160 feet to the hard earth below. In the descent, which was watched closely by two scores of men, the cat spread herself out like a flying squirrel and alighted on all fours. After turning over on the soil a few times in a dazed manner she prepared to leave the grounds.

She had got almost beyond the shadow of the monument when a dog belonging to one of the workmen pounced upon her and killed her, she, of course, not being in her best running trim after performing such an extraordinary feat. One of the men procured the body of the dead feline, smoothed out her silky coat and turned the remains over to a representative of the Smithsonian institution, who mounted the skin and placed it under a glass case. The label on the case tells this wonderful story in a few words: "This cat on Sept. 23, 1880, jumped from the top of Washington's monument and lived."

Chinese Porcelain.

Chinese porcelain was common in Europe for 400 years before a German potter succeeded in finding out the process of making it. This Chinese pottery is scattered all over the world and everywhere valued, but nowhere was the distribution more curious than in western Canada. Early in the nineteenth century a Chinese junk was cast away on the Pacific coast of America just south of Vancouver island, and its cargo of willow pattern plates fell into the hands of the Hudson Bay company's officers. Still in the remotest trading posts of the fur traders a few fine specimens remain.

Cast iron plows were first made in this country in 1797 and were greatly objected to from the belief that the east iron poisoned the ground and prevented the plants from growing.

Caught a 26-Pound Fish.

Bloomfield, April 29.—John A. Porter, president of the Farmers' Independent Telephone company, caught a large fish in Cross creek quite unexpectedly. The fish floated out with the high waters into the field and couldn't get back, and Mr. Porter discovered it lying in a pool of water. The fish was three feet and six inches in length, twelve inches thick and weighed 26 pounds. R. J. Ferguson pronounced the fish to be of the carp species and of a superior quality.

ANOTHER FRIGHTFUL WARNING.

It was a distressingly sad story which the News Review had to chronicle on Saturday regarding the death of a little girl, who had been the joy of a happy household. Caught by cruel flames while engaged in childish play, the little one was condemned to the most agonizing death of which the human mind can form any conception. The end came, not immediately, but after a night of suffering that must have seemed well-nigh endless to the little victim.

The fact that death in this form has become exceedingly common mitigates none of its horrors. This community has been repeatedly shocked in the past few months by such unnecessary occurrences. Certainly unnecessary; for, as the News Review has pointed out before, a few cents' worth of wire, in the form of a screen, stretched in front of fire-places, would prevent nine-tenths of the deaths that result from burning. There should be a law in every state forbidding the use of unprotected grates. It would save hundreds of lives yearly and avert incalculable misery. And law or no law, the householder who does not see that his fire-place has such protection but leaves it as an open death-trap for infancy and helpless old age is certainly censurable. East Liverpool and vicinity have surely had enough of frightful warnings so that everybody ought to be convinced of the necessity of abolishing the unprotected grate.

BRYAN'S AMBITION.

William J. Bryan is credited by Editor Edward Rosewater, of the Omaha Bee, with the ambition of becoming governor of Nebraska. "If elected governor," says Mr. Rosewater, "he will hope to secure a Democratic legislature, in which event he will seek an election to the United States senate to succeed Gov. Detrick, whose term will expire in 1905. From the best information that I can get I really believe that Mr. Bryan will not look for the presidential nomination in 1904."

Editor Rosewater's remarks concerning the political future of Mr. Bryan are interesting. Nevertheless, it should be recalled that immediately after election day last year the New York Sun printed what was alleged to have been an authoritative statement from Mr. Bryan to the effect that if he could not be elected to the presidency no candidate of his party should ever be elected as long as he was alive. At the time this was interpreted to be a threat on the part of Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Bryan, having twice been defeated for the highest office in the land, if he were a good party man, would have the grace to rest on his political oars for a time and let some stronger man try his fortunes. But it is rule or ruin with Bryan. That was made plain by his domination of the St. Louis convention. He compelled that body, against the best judgment of the best Democrats, to reaffirm the Chicago platform, defunct free trade heresy, socialism and all. Bryan will be the whole thing in Democracy or nothing. If his party were wise, he would be nothing. But his party is seldom wise, and he is quite likely to continue his course of obstinacy and pile up more defeats for it. If the Democrats can stand it, Republicans certainly can. But isn't he a nice kind of a man to rule a once-great party?

A MINISTER'S BAD BREAK.

The Rev. Dr. Rainsford, of New York, used the expression "damned rot" in a speech, and is now being called down, both by the press and by his brethren in the ministry. He deserves all the censure he is receiving. Profane language is inexcusable everywhere; it certainly has no place on a minister's lips. People look to men who occupy pulpits to set an example, and one such exhibition of vulgarity and bad taste on the part of a clergyman is likely to more than offset all the good he ever accomplished by his preaching.

A man was fined in East Liverpool the other day for profane and indecent language. The action of the mayor in imposing the fine was most commendable. If the statute which provides a penalty for such offenses were munit, instead, as is generally the enforced more frequently in every community, instead, as is generally the case, of being suffered to rest as a dead letter, it would have a wholesome effect, and ladies and Christian men could walk the street without danger of hearing expressions that shock all their finer feelings. Boys and striplings think it smart to swear. There never was a greater error. Any fool can do it. Instead of marking the man addicted to it as smarter than his fellows, profanity stamps its user as ill-bred and unrefined. And a clergyman who uses such expressions as that attributed to Dr. Rainsford will soon cease to be "reverend" in the popular estimation, whatever title he may wear before his name.

Democrate suspense in Ohio will soon be over and the untirred will know whether they must shout for John R. McLean's man, Tom L. Johnson's man or some other man's man.

There is every prospect that the Maine will not only be remembered but resurrected. She possesses actual as well as historic value.

SOUTH SIDE.

EAGER FOR A GAME.

THE T. L. & S. BOYS WANT TO MEET KNOWLES TEAM.

Another Challenge Issued by Captain West for a Contest.

James West, the captain of the Taylor, Lee & Smith base ball team, is greatly perplexed because, he says, he cannot arrange for a game with the Edwin M. Knowles pottery team. He says his boys are after the scalps of the Knowles' pottery boys, and that the latter know it and are afraid to make a contest on the field.

In spite of this he again challenges them to a match game on the morning of circus day, May 16, and offers to play for any amount they may name. He is also very anxious to arrange for a game with the Chester team, but that team will not play until after they are equipped with uniforms. They will hold a festival Wednesday evening, at which time they hope to clear enough money for this purpose.

Gossip among Chesterites is confined chiefly to two topics—base ball and politics—the young people talking about the former and the older people discussing the latter.

Still Another Candidate.

R. S. McGlumphy has announced himself as a candidate for council. He is a well known and popular man and his friends say he is a sure winner.

CHESTER NEWS NOTES.

Clyde, the four-year-old son of Robert Potts, is dangerously ill with the croup.

Kicked on the Story.

Probably most writers of serial stories are familiar with the sensation of receiving letters of commendation or disapproval from interested readers who are following up the stories as they appear in their regular weekly or monthly installments. Occasionally some curious person asks for private information as to what the outcome is to be, while others offer suggestions as to the disposition to be made of the villain or express a fear that the author is to marry the hero to the wrong woman.

The writer of a serial story in one of the popular magazines a few years ago received the following letter from an indignant reader. The names are changed for obvious reasons:

Dear Sir—I take the liberty of telling you that I regard your "Simeon Stacy," now running through The Blank Magazine, as a little the thinnest novel I have read. Furthermore, the principal character in the story, to whom you give the title role, so to speak, is so thoroughly detestable a man that I have taken the most effective means in my power to show my contempt for him by changing my name—which happened to be the same as his—to something as unlike it as possible. Yours truly, ANDREW JACOBSON.

Formerly Simeon Stacy.

—Youth's Companion.

His Plain Story Won.

An ungroomed man slouched up to Smith in Farnum street the other day and accosted him as follows:

"Say, mister, if I was to tell you that I wanted a quarter to get a square meal you'd think I wanted it to buy whisky, wouldn't you?"

"That's exactly what I would think," replied Smith.

"And if I said I wanted a quarter to buy whisky you'd say you didn't propose to encourage the drink habit, wouldn't you?"

"That's what I'd say."

"And if I said I wanted a quarter to buy food for a starving wife and 11 children you'd think I was a liar, wouldn't you?"

"I would."

"Well, say, mister, I want a quarter to pay for having me mother-in-law's trunk hauled to the depot. Do I get it?"

Smith effected a compromise by parting with a dime.—Omaha World-Herald.

POLITICAL MATTERS.

An address to the Democracy of Ohio advocating Colonel Kilbourne's candidacy was issued Saturday evening. This has the sanction of Mayor Hinkle, although he did not sign it, and it seems likely that it will rob Lentz of the chance of getting any delegates from Franklin county. Lentz worked so hard to prevent Mayor Hinkle's signing the address as to strain the bonds of their personal friendship almost to the breaking limit, while their political connection has been snapped asunder.

Reform-labeled Democracy, engineered by Tom Johnson, monopolist, capitalist and the fattened favorite of franchise, having as its walking delegate Frank S. Monnett, renegade from the Republican party, is not of a character to appeal strongly to popular confidence. Certainly it is not calculated to impress public intelligence with the quality of its political integrity.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Governor Nash is urging General Thomas M. Anderson, retired as major general of volunteers January 21, 1900, to accept the position of commandant of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Home at Sandusky, to succeed the late A. M. Anderson. General Anderson is considering the matter, and will probably accept an election from the board of trustees.

Mayor Jones, of Toledo, is liable to a fine of $100. The fine will be imposed upon him, and he will have no recourse from paying it, unless he returns to the probate court the certificate that he solemnized two certain marriages.

SHE THREATENED HIM.

What James L. Starkey Says In Answer to Miss Loretta Roberts.

County Auditor James L. Starkey, of Zanesville, well known in this county for his work in settling up the affairs of the First National bank of Lisbon, has filed his answer to the $25,000 breach of promise suit brought against him a few weeks ago by Miss Loretta Roberts, a White Cottage belle. He denies that he ever requested the plaintiff to marry him or that they ever entered into a mutual agreement or promise to marry. He admits that about the month of June, 1900, he did note November of that year as the date of their marriage.

Mr. Starkey claims that prior to and at the time he fixed the date the plaintiff threatened to sue him for a large sum of money as damages for breach of promise on an alleged promise of marriage, and at the same time threatened to charge and publish the defendant of being guilty of a serious crime and to prosecute him for the said alleged crime, the same being a felony, unless he would marry her or pay her $10,000. He says he was not guilty of the crime or crimes, and that all of statements and threats were made to coerce him into fixing a date for said marriage and to force him to marry the plaintiff or pay her the large sum of money named. He says he was forced to fix a date for such marriage solely by reason of the undue influence and threats so made.

The answer has created even a greater sensation than the original suit, both parties being among the most prominent and wealthy in Muskingum county.

White Rose Lodge, Daughters of St. George, will hold an Ice Cream Social in the K. of P. hall Monday evening, April 29. All friends are invited.

His Dim Idea.

A teacher was giving her class an exercise in spelling and defining words.

"Thomas," she said to a curly haired little boy, "spell 'hex'."

"I-b-e-x."

"Correct. Define it."

"An 'ibex,' answered Thomas after a prolonged mental struggle, "is where you look in the back part of the book when you want to find anything that's printed in the front part of the book."

Unforgiven.

At a recent banquet in Sydney a descendant of the Macdonalds massacred at Glencoe passed a knife "with the blade foremost" to a member of a famous old family bearing the historic name of the Macdonalds' betrayers. Most of those who looked on stigmatized the action as one of contemptible bad breeding. But one or two understood the significance and knew that the betrayal is still unforgiven.

The local Odd Fellows and their auxiliary organizations assembled at their hall on Fifth street Sunday morning and marched in a body to the First M. E. church, where they listened to a special sermon delivered by Dr. Clark Crawford. This was the local observance of the eighty-second anniversary of Odd Fellowship in America. The Odd Fellows, in full regalia, numbering perhaps 150, nearly filled the middle tier of seats. There was also a large congregation in addition. The singing was excellent, both at the morning and evening service. To the Odd Fellows Dr. Crawford preached an eloquent and appropriate sermon, taking as his text Ecclesiastes 9:10, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, that do with thy might." He spoke of the elements and motives that make up a life of useful service; complimented the Odd Fellows on the good they have accomplished in the past and pointed out the opportunities for useful work both in the present and in the future. The services were both appropriate and impressive.

The Sons and Daughters of St. George attended divine services at St. Stephen's church yesterday morning. There were fully 100 representatives of the two societies at the church, and a large attendance of the church members, so that the auditorium was completely filled. Rev. Edwin Weary, the rector, preached a special sermon, taking as his theme the Magna Charter, the foundation of freedom for the people of England. It was a discourse full of deep thought and highly interesting as well as instructive. The evening services were also largely attended.

The local camp Sons of Veterans will met tomorrow evening and initiate several new members. Arrangements will be completed for the trip to the division encampment at Bellefontaine. Two delegates, R. E. Nichols and S. T. Herbert, together with Post Captains F. W. Timmons, C. B. Applegate and O. C. Vodrey, will represent the organization.

Ohio Temple No. 1, Ladies of the Golden Eagle, at their meeting Friday evening, initiated one new candidate and received one application. After business was transacted the male members of the order served the ladies with refreshments and a good time was had until an early hour in the morning.

The social committee of the Jr. O. U. A. M., assisted by the Daughters of America, will hold a musical entertainment in their hall above the postoffice Wednesday evening.

NEW ORGANIZATION

Formed in Trenton by Kilmen, Dippers And Saggermakers.

Trenton, April 29.—The Times says: A number of local pottersmen held a meeting last night and formed the Kilmen, Dippers' and Saggermakers' Union of Trenton. Officers were elected and a board of trustees appointed.

It is said the new organization does not meet with the favor of the other labor unions about the city, and that in the event of trouble it will not receive the support of the Central Labor Union. The organization was formed, it is said, by men who were dissatisfied with the present unions made up of the members of their craft.

GANG OF NEGRO BRUTES.

Assaulted a Woman Near Connellsville, Pa.—Her Husband Shot Twice.

Connellsville, Pa., April 29.—A gang of negroes, who attacked J. H. McMillan and his wife in a lonely house near Oliphant, shot the man twice and assaulted brutally the woman.

There were eight negroes, being in the party two black women also. The men burst in the door, dragged Mrs. McMillan from her husband's arms, and carried her out behind an outbuilding, where three men assaulted her. Leaving their victim prostrate, the men gave their attention to the frantic husband, who had been engaged in battle with one or more of the men throughout this terrible ordeal.

McMillan broke from his assailants, and as he darted back into the house the cowards, evidently thinking that he was going for a gun or revolver, drew a bead on him and a bullet pierced his body just below the heart.

McMillan fell at his door, but before fleeing the negroes shot at his prostrate body, another bullet lodging in the fallen man, near his kidneys.

After the negroes had fled the husband lay at his door bleeding and his wife lay unconscious behind the outbuilding about 50 feet away. The woman came to her senses first and found her husband.

Mrs. McMillan gave the alarm to Constable John Laughhead, who lived in the house nearest to the McMillans, and immediately a posse was organized to hunt down the black fiends. The posse did not lose much time in getting started over the hills, and in a couple of hours came across Wesley Lewis, one of the assailants, who thought he would elude the officers by hiding in some bushes. He was handcuffed and brought under guard to the Fayette county jail, where he is now behind the bars.

Bessie Wares and Lizzie Jones, the two colored women implicated in the affair, were recognized by Constable Laughhead when he was bringing his prisoners on the train, and they, too, were locked up in Uniontown. In the meantime word had spread and County Detective Alexander McBeth, of this place, started for the scene. Constables A. J. Bowie and A. C. Collins, with other officers, and a great number of infuriated white citizens, were scouring the foothills of the Alleghenies in the hope of finding the other five negroes.

Mrs. McMillan was able to recognize her assailants, as was her husband. The names of the negroes who had not been captured are: William Allen, Thomas Walker, John Franklin, Walter Coles and William Lee.

Mrs. McMillan suffered severely from shock and brutal treatment. The colored women were worse than the men in their abuse of the couple. McMillan identified William Allen as the man who shot him, and the officers claimed the three men who outraged Mrs. McMillan were William Allen, Thomas Walker and Wesley Lewis.

THE ST. LOUIS FAIR.

If St. Louis got her $5,000,000 fair appropriation under false pretenses; as is charged, congress should take the grant away, and a movement is on foot to do it.—Buffalo News.

St. Louis will probably not worry greatly over the report that when congress meets next December the law appropriating $5,000,000 for the proposed World's fair at the Mound City is to be repealed on the ground that the fair, which it understood should be held in 1903, is not to take place until a year later. Chicago, it will be remembered, had a similar postponement for a year, and the determination proved a wise one.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

LOST AND FOUND.

I lost a maiden long ago;
Last night I thought I'd found her,
And as my loyal heart's one queen
I quietly recognized her.

'Twould not be truth to say she seemed
Untouched by time, since fairer
E'en than of old I found her face,
The roses in it rarer.

Her halo had more golden grown,
While lo-as once hyacinthine
Upon my own poor pate, alas,
For many a year have been thine!

The eyes—whose shafts the little god
Employed to overcome me—
Shone brighter. Smiles were on the lips
Whose "No" did once benumb me.

My heart beat high with hope, but when
I spoke her name another
Who stood beside the maid replied,
The maiden called her "Mother."

The matron smiled on me. I dared
Not tell her that I'd sought her
Through long and weary years, at last
To find her—in her daughter!

Another Challenge Issued by Captain West for a Contest.

James West, the captain of the Taylor, Lee & Smith base ball team, is greatly perplexed because, he says, he cannot arrange for a game with the Edwin M. Knowles pottery team. He says his boys are after the scalps of the Knowles' pottery boys, and that the latter know it and are afraid to make a contest on the field.

In spite of this he again challenges them to a match game on the morning of circus day, May 16, and offers to play for any amount they may name. Kicked on the Story.

Probably most writers of serial stories are familiar with the sensation of receiving letters of commendation or disapproval from interested readers who are following up the stories as they appear in their regular weekly or monthly installments. Occasionally some curious person asks for private information as to what the outcome is to be, while others offer suggestions as to the disposition to be made of the villain or express a fear that the author is to marry the hero to the wrong woman.

The writer of a serial story in one of the popular magazines a few years ago received the following letter from an indignant reader. The names are changed for obvious reasons:

Dear Sir—I take the liberty of telling you that I regard your "Simeon Stacy," now running through The Blank Magazine, as a little the thinnest novel I have read. Furthermore, the principal character in the story, to whom you give the title role, is so thoroughly detestable a man that I have taken the most effective means in my power to show my contempt for him by changing my name—which happened to be the same as his—to something as unlike it as possible. Yours truly, ANDREW JACOBSON, Formerly Simeon Stacy.

His Plain Story Won.

An ungroomed man slouched up to Smith in Farnum street the other day and accosted him as follows:

"Say, mister, if I was to tell you that I wanted a quarter to get a square meal you'd think I wanted it to buy whisky, wouldn't you?"

"That's exactly what I would think," replied Smith.

"And if I said I wanted a quarter to buy whisky you'd say you didn't propose to encourage the drink habit, wouldn't you?"

"That's what I'd say."

"And if I said I wanted a quarter to buy food for a starving wife and 11 children you'd think I was a liar, wouldn't you?"

"I would."

"Well, say, mister, I want a quarter to pay for having me mother-in-law's trunk hauled to the depot. Do I get it?"

Smith effected a compromise by parting with a dime.—Omaha World-Herald.

SHE THREATENED HIM.

What James L. Starkey Says in Answer to Miss Loretta Roberts.

County Auditor James L. Starkey, of Zanesville, well known in this county for his work in settling up the affairs of the First National bank of Lisbon, has filed his answer to the $25,000 breach of promise suit brought against him a few weeks ago by Miss Loretta Roberts, a White Cottage belle. He denies that he ever requested the plaintiff to marry him or that they ever entered into a mutual agreement or promise to marry. He admits that about the month of June, 1900, he did note November of that year as the date of their marriage.

Mr. Starkey claims that prior to and at the time he fixed the date the plaintiff threatened to sue him for a large sum of money as damages for breach of promise on an alleged promise of marriage, and at the same time threatened to charge and publish the defendant of being guilty of a serious crime and to prosecute him for the said alleged crime, the same being a felony, unless he would marry her or pay her $10,000. He says he was not guilty of the crime or crimes, and that all of statements and threats were made to coerce him into fixing a date for said marriage and to force him to marry the plaintiff or pay her the large sum of money named. He says he was forced to fix a date for such marriage solely by reason of the undue influence and threats so made.

The answer has created even a greater sensation than the original suit, both parties being among the most prominent and wealthy in Muskingum county.

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP

The McKinley Party Will Start Today on the Journey to the Pacific.

MRS. M'KINLEY AND OTHERS GO

To Proceed to New Orleans in Charge of Southern Railway—West by Southern Pacific—The Itinerary Arranged For the Tour.

Washington, April 29.—The president and Mrs. McKinley and party leave today for their trip. The Southern Railway company will have charge of the train from Washington to New Orleans. At this point the party and train will be under the supervision of the Southern Pacific railroad.

The train, which is practically new, is made up of seven cars. The president's own car is the Olympia, on the rear of the train. Next to the engine is the combination baggage and smoking car Atlantic, followed by the new dining car St. James, with a capacity of 40 people. The next two are compartment cars, with seven state rooms and two drawing rooms each, the Omena and Guiana. The fifth and sixth cars, the Pelion and Charmion, are handsome 12-section drawing room cars. The president, it was intended, will retain the Olympia as far as San Francisco, and there, it was intended, will be transferred to the Lucania, said to be one of the finest private cars in existence, in which he may make the return trip to the east. The Olympia is about 70 feet long and has five private rooms and one sofa section and can accommodate nine persons. The Lucania has accommodations for about 13 people. The president and Mrs. McKinley likely will have their meals served in their own car.

Following was the itinerary arranged:

Monday, April 29—Leave Washington at 10:30 a. m. on the Southern railway. The special train will pass through Alexandria, Charlottesville, Lynchburg and Kianoke, Va. Continuing southward to Alabama it will go through Huntsville, Decatur, Tusculumbia and Corinth, Miss.

Tuesday, April 30—At 4:30 p. m. arrives at Memphis, Tenn., stopping several hours for a drive about the city.

Wednesday, May 1—Pass through historic Vicksburg, Miss., Jackson, Miss., arriving at New Orleans, La., at 4:30 p. m. President will attend banquet and deliver address.

Thursday, May 2—The party will visit historic Cabildo palace and take a boat ride on a Mississippi steamer. In the evening start westward over Southern Pacific railroad.

Friday, May 3—Arriving at Beaumont, Tex., the president's party will view the famous new oil gusher. The next stop will be at Houston, Tex. Later in the day the president will inspect negro college at Prairie View, Reach Austin, Tex., at 5 p. m.

Saturday, May 4—Arrive San Antonio, Tex. in morning. President will view historic Alamo.

Sunday, May 5—Reach El Paso, Tex., and spend Sabbath. Monday morning Mr. McKinley will be greeted by President Diaz, of Mexico.

Tuesday, May 7—At Phoenix, Ariz., the president will inspect great irrigation canals.

Wednesday, May 8—Arrive at Redlands, Cal., where governor of state will welcome party. Presidential party will reach Los Angeles in afternoon.

Thursday, May 9—Will be spent at Los Angeles, Cal., and noted orange-growing district in vicinity.

Friday, May 10—The executive train will be the first to pass over new coast line railroad to Ventura, Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo, Cal.

Saturday and Sunday, May 11 and 12, will be spent at Monterey and gardens of Del Monte.

Monday, May 13—At Santa Cruz, Cal., a detour will be made on stages to the giant redwood trees.

Tuesday, May 14—Arrive at San Francisco, Cal. The president's party will stay here till Monday, May 20, visiting Golden Gate, Mt. Tamalpais and launching of battleship Ohio.

Monday, May 20—En route to Oregon, stopping at Stockton and Sacramento, Cal.

Wednesday, May 22—Reach Salem.

Ore., in morning and Portland, Ore., in afternoon.

Thursday, May 23—Start for Puget Sound, passing through Chehalis, Wash.; Centralia and Olympia, the capital of Washington, arriving at Tacoma in evening.

Friday, May 24—Take steamer on Puget Sound to Seattle. At night the start will be made eastward on train over Northern Pacific railroad, going through Yakima Valley and Ellensburg, Wash.

Saturday and Sunday, May 25 and 26—At Spokane, visiting the Spokane Falls.

Monday, May 27—Resume trip east, going through Butte and Helena, Mont.

Tuesday, May 28—President's party will take stages from Cinnabar, Mont., to Yellowstone National park.

Wednesday and Thursday, May 29 and 30—Visiting the great geysers, hot springs and canon of the Yellowstone.

Saturday, June 15—Arrive at Washington 5 p. m.

FLEECING FARMERS.

A New Scheme Being Worked By Some Swindlers in Summit County.

Akron, April 29.—A new swindling scheme is being worked in this section by two strangers who represent themselves as being attorneys. It is said that the strangers have reaped a harvest. The fake attorneys dropped into the city several days ago and put up at one of the hotels. After being here a short time they secured a common pleas court docket and from it learned the names of many farmers against whom suits had been brought. With the names of the farmers in their possession they then set to work and secured their address. This was the hardest part of their task, but when they had finished it they at once started out to fleece the farmers.

Deciding on their victim they will drive to his house and introduce themselves as attorneys who are engaged in the business of settling up all kinds of suits. To the surprise of their victim they will tell him all about the suit that has been brought against him. The farmer listens and then becomes interested. The sharpers have not only secured the court dockets, but they have actually been at the court house and have examined the files of a great many cases and are armed for their business. They can settle the case for a certain sum of money, so they say. The amount looks reasonable and in many cases farmers have forked over goodly sums of money. The full extent of their operations has not as yet been made known as an effort is being made to capture them and everything is being handled with much secrecy.

His Wounds Were Fatal.

Akron, April 29.—The funeral of Edward L. Frye took place yesterday. He was shot in the battle Friday morning between Deputy Game Wardens Charles Ruckel and Levi Fox, and Frank Wages and himself. He lived just 15 hours after he was taken to the hospital, dying from the effects of five bullet wounds he received during the shooting.

JAMES D. REID DEAD.

He Was Known as "The Father of the Telegraph."

New York, April 29.—James Douglas Reid, known to telegraphers throughout the country as "The Father of the Telegraph," died at his residence in this city. He had been ill for many weeks.

James Douglas Reid was born at Edinburgh, Scotland, March 22, 1819, and came to America in 1834. His entrance into the telegraphic service was in 1845, when he assisted in the organization of the Atlantic and Ohio Telegraph company, for the construction of a series of lines connecting Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Buffalo, Detroit, Cincinnati, St. Louis and New Orleans, the most extensive series projected at that time. Becoming acquainted with Prof. S. F. B. Morse, a mutual attachment sprung up between them, which led to Mr. Reid's appointment as superintendent of the Magnetic Telegraph company, a line extending from New York to Washington, at the same time retaining his connection with the Atlantic and Ohio company. He entered the service of the Western Union Telegraph company in 1856, where he remained until 1889, when he was appointed United States consul to Dunfermline, Scotland, through the influence of Andrew Carnegie, who as a boy had served as messenger and telegraph operator under Mr. Reid at Pittsburg. He relinquished this office in 1897. The statue of Prof. Morse in Central park, this city, was erected by the telegraph fraternity through the efforts of Mr. Reid.

BANK STOPS BUSINESS.

Great Excitement Prevailed Among Depositors.

Westerly, R. I., April 29.—Late Sunday afternoon the following notice was issued:

"The trustees of the Mechanics' Savings bank, owing to the doubtful value of some of the bank's assets, have decided that it is for the best interests of depositors that the bank go into liquidation, and action has already been taken looking to this result. Pending the granting of the authority no money will be received or paid out."

This action came as a great surprise to the town, and great excitement prevails among small depositors. The estimated amount of deposits is something less than a million, the securities on their face value something less than $1,100,000, the number of depositors about 2,000. Many of the securities are western investments, which are understood to have decreased in value year by year.

This action came as a great surprise to the town, and great excitement prevails among small depositors. The estimated amount of deposits is something less than a million, the securities on their face values something less than $1,100,000, the number of depositors about 2,000.
Many of the securities are western investments, which are understood to have decreased in value year by year.

NINE CHINESE TO DIE

Will Be Executed for Robbery and Violence in the American District.

TODAY THEY PAY THE PENALTY

Germans and French Met a Chinese Force and Inflicted on Them a Heavy Loss—Farewell Entertainment to Americans.

Pekin, April 29.—The report of General Ketteler, received here from Kuo Lu, differs from the other reports concerning the German-French expedition, previously received. General Ketteler's report shows that the Chinese troops did not leave the province till they were forced to do so. The entire brigade commanded by General Ketteler met the enemy on April 23 and inflicted immense loss upon them. The report does not give this loss. The Germans had one officer and three soldiers killed and 28 soldiers wounded. The Chinese were forced to leave the province and were fully demoralized. The French authorities stated that the Chinese had crossed the border of the province on April 19, in which case they must have subsequently returned.

Li Hung Chang says it is impossible to believe that General Lui Kwang Ting would have so flagrantly disobeyed his orders, and anxiously awaits the Chinese report of the encounter referred to by General Ketteler.

Li Hung Chang paid return calls to the different legations and congratulated Commissioner Rockhill on the stand taken by Americans on indemnity. It is not generally thought among the ministers of the powers that Mr. Rockhill's efforts in this direction will prove successful, though most of them admit that they must be guided in the matter by the instructions they receive from their home governments.

Nine Chinamen will be executed today in the American district for highway robbery and violence. The men in question were tried and sentenced according to Chinese law, but they are the first of such sentences to be approved by General Chaffee.

General Gaslee, the British commander, the officers of his staff, and the entire British contingent gave a farewell entertainment to the American officers. All officers who were not actually on duty were present and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed. Speeches were made by General Gaslee and General Chaffee only.

It is said at German headquarters that the brigade of General Ketteler is returning to Pao Ting Fu.

CHILDREN TIED TO HER BACK.

Slav Woman Arrives at Bellaire Seeking Her Husband.

Bellaire, April 29.—A Slav woman, direct from her native heath, unable to speak a word of English, arrived here in search of her husband, who she said had come here to work in the National Steel Works several months ago. She carried two children, one 8 and the other 3 years old, strapped to her back, and though she traveled several miles, declared she was not tired, and would not let the children down. She will go from here to Wheeling Creek, and thence to Mingo Junction if the husband is not found.

AGAINST TOBACCO.

Peculiar Provision of a Will Filed at Akron.

Akron, April 29.—A will with a peculiar provision was filed in probate court Saturday. It was that of Jacob B. Rohrer and it provides that his widow, Sada Rohrer, shall have all the property of the estate, both real and personal. The estate includes a 190-acre farm.

The peculiar provision is that each of the children shall be given a $15 watch upon arriving at the age of 21, providing that the child had not used tobacco in any form up to that time.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE.

Convention to Be Held in Rochester, N. Y.—Some of the Speakers Expected.

Philadelphia, April 29.—The seventh annual meeting of the National Municipal league and the ninth conference for good city government will be held in Rochester, N. Y., May 8, 9 and 10.

The theme of this year's meeting will be "Uniformity in Municipal Accounting." It will be introduced at the Friday afternoon session in a report submitted by Dr. Edward N. Hartwell, of the Boston statistical bureau, who is chairman of the committee appointed to complete the data.

A subject to which the league has given considerable attention is instruction in municipal government in American educational institutions. The report of a committee appointed to familiarize itself with these matters will be presented Thursday morning by President Thomas M. Drown, of Lehigh university, who is chairman of the committee.

The work of the American Society of Municipal Improvements and of the League of American Municipalities will be set forth in detail before the conference. Primary election reform and recent charter legislation are matters that may also receive their share of attention.

FIVE PERSONS PERISHED.

One a Babe Born During the Fire. Negro Accused of Incendiarism.

Houston, Texas, April 29.—In a fire which destroyed a livery stable and three residences five persons were burned to death, Job Copping, a florist, his wife and three children. A negro has been arrested on the charge of having started the fire to get revenge on his employer for having discharged him. In the ruins were found the bodies of the victims, among them being an infant which had been born to Mrs. Copping during the progress of the fire. Its body was found with its mother. Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hopper jumped from the burning building and both were badly injured.

The fire started in a livery stable over which several families lived, and the building was a mass of flames when the firemen arrived. A crippled widow, Mrs. Thompson, escaped from the building and says she saw the Copping family run back into their room from the hallway and that was the last seen of them alive. The Hoppers were cut off from escape by the stairs and jumped. Mr. Hopper's leg being fractured and Mrs. Hopper receiving internal injuries.

DEATH OF REV. DR. PORTER.

Suddenly Passed Away at Easton After Writing to His Executor.

Easton, Pa., April 29.—Rev. Thomas Conrad Porter, D. D., LL. D., professor emeritus of botany, zoology and general geology at Lafayette college, died suddenly. He had been in failing health for some time, but was down in the city Saturday. Just before his death he had finished writing a letter to the executor of his will.

Dr. Porter was born in Alexandria, Pa., Jan. 22, 1822. He graduated at Lafayette in 1840, and entered the ministry in 1843, preaching at Reading until 1849, when he went to Franklin and Marshall college, Lancaster.

When he came to Lafayette, where he was a conspicuous member of the faculty to the day of his death. Dr. Porter was an authority in botany and geology and a writer of verse.

Died After Being Burned.

Easton, Pa., April 29.—While at work in his shooting gallery here William Whitley was seized with a fit and fell over a row of coal oil lamps. His clothes caught fire and he was nearly dead before the police broke in the door. He died in the hospital a few hours later. His home was at Passaic, N. J.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

Signs of Spring—The barefoot boy and the straw hat are both in evidence today.

Moved From Irondale—The household goods of Carl Parrizica were received at the freight station Saturday from Irondale.

Decorators Idle—The employees of the decorating department of the Sevres China company were compelled to loaf today, there being no ware.

Moved to Town—The household goods of W. G. Calhoun were received at the freight station Saturday from Beaver Falls. Mr. Calhoun will reside on Railroad street.

Preached to Presbyterians—Dr. William Gaston, of Cleveland, occupied the pulpit at the First Presbyterian church yesterday, and preached an eloquent and forceful sermon.

In Convulsions—The 18-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nagle, Sixth street, is very ill. The little one was in convulsions all of Saturday night, but is somewhat improved today.

A Game With the Kiskis—A game of base ball has been arranged between the Phoenix team of this city and the Kiskiminetas club. The Phoenix boys will go to Saltsburg to play the game on May 11.

Summer Hours for Churches—Commencing with next Sunday all church services will be commenced at 8 o'clock, and the young peoples' meetings at 6:45. This will continue throughout the summer months.

Sued on a Grocer's Bill—Suit has been entered in the court of Justice Rose by Samuel Ward against Edgar Thorn for a bill amounting to $17.91 claimed due for groceries sold and delivered. The case will be heard tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.

Taken East for Burial—The remains of Mary Gordon, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis T. Shriver, whose death was caused by burns, which she received at her home on Drury lane Friday night, were taken to Mechanicsburg, Pa., on the 5 o'clock train this morning, for burial.

Taken to His Home—Thomas Chambers, who is ill with appendicitis, on Saturday afternoon was taken to his home in New Brighton. Chambers is a baker and came here two weeks ago and accepted a position with Jesse Fisher. He was taken ill on Thursday and it was thought best to send him home.

Out of Children's Mouths.
The teacher of a Sabbath school class, says The Christian Register, approached one little fellow who was present for the first time and inquired his name, for the purpose of placing it on the roll. "Well," said the youngster, "they call me Jimmie for short, but my maiden name is James."

This is a good mate for the naive and somewhat boastful statement of a little girl in a Buffalo household who assured a playmate that she not only had two maiden aunts, but a maiden grandmother!

Welcomed the Circus.

Howard Paul told an amusing story of his first Italian tour, when a party of 80 were piloted about by Thomas Cook, the founder of the famous firm: "We ascertained that he had arranged at Pisa for a number of open carriages to take us from the railway station to the leaning tower—about the only object of interest there was to see in that archaic place. I telegraphed to the mayor of Pisa that Cook's circus from England would pass through the town and that I desired him to announce it by bulletin on the Mairie and any points where the public would see the notice, that they might extend to the troupe a hearty welcome.

"Not suspecting a joke, the mayor did as I suggested, and when we arrived, entered the coaches and drove in procession through the town the streets were thronged with spectators, who now and then sent up delirious cheers and shouted 'vivas' in demonstrative fashion. Mr. Cook (I rode in his carriage) was astounded at the enthusiasm of the inhabitants and was puzzled to know how they knew the English tourists were coming, as he had only communicated with the station master regarding the vehicles.

"Of course, as the author of the little comedy, I could not enlighten him, and when my American friend and I called on the mayor to thank him for his courteous attention to my requests he gently inquired where the horses were, as the inhabitants would prefer to have seen us mounted. My Yankee partner in the 'sell' was equal to the occasion, and, as he spoke a little Italian, he informed the official that the horses were so numerous they would come on by a later train.

"The secret was well kept, and, as Mr. Cook and none of the tourists were linguists and as we only remained in Pisa three hours, they all departed in wonderment as to why their advent had earned such extraordinary excitement."—Argonaut.

The Postmaster at the Zoo.

The lawyer who evidently considers life one huge, continuous joke entered the clerk's office at the city hall with an expression of extreme radiance overspreading his countenance. The clerks and others having business in the office at the time ceased their several pursuits. Experience had taught them that the aforesaid lawyer would say something of an entertaining character.

"Gather round, boys," he said. "I have a dandy for you this morning."

The speaker paused. The others silently waited for what was coming.

"Now listen carefully," resumed the lawyer, "and note the beauty of the connection between the three sections of this little conundrum. Here it is: 'If the postmaster should visit the zoo and while there be eaten by the wild animals, what o'clock would it be?'"

There was another pause. Finally the clerk in charge of the dockets ventured the answer, "It would be all day with the postmaster."

"Wrong, entirely wrong," commented the lawyer. "I didn't ask what time. I asked what o'clock would it be."

A third pause. Then by general consent the answer was requested. The lawyer gayly announced, "Ate p. m."

Before the gathering had recovered the lawyer had flitted from the room and was headed for the court of appeals to try the postmaster zoo wild animals conundrum on the higher tribunal.—Washington Star.

In Syracuse is a cave said to have been constructed by the tyrant Dionysius, probably used as a prison. It is made in the shape of an immense human ear, and its acoustic properties are most remarkable. Maxwell Sommerville, the author of "Sands of Sahara," visited it and had its properties exhibited to him by the guide stationed there.

The man took a sheet of letter paper and, standing within the portal of the ear, struck the edge of the paper with the forefinger of his right hand once, twice, thrice. Each light tap was repeated through the deep orifices of that stone ear as if it had been a blow with a heavy sledge hammer on the roof of an iron house. He then rattled the paper slightly, and that feeble sound was augmented a millionfold, reverberating through the vaults above and beyond like the crash and roll of thunder. He whistled, spoke and called. Thousands of stentorian voices repeated every sound. Turning to my companion, I said:

"We must not longer tarry. Let us embark. Now we shall go to Kabylia, on our way to the desert of Sahara."

Myriad lungs of stone caught up the last word of each phrase and answered aloud, "Tarry—arry—embark—ark—Kabylia—bylia—Sahara—hara—ara—a-a."

England's Tippling Act.

A queer English law, called the "tippling act of 1751," provides that an innkeeper cannot recover for debts for liquor amounting to more than $5. The son of an eminent English throat specialist lately ran up a bill of $250 at an English public house and based a refusal to pay upon the validity of this act. As the statute was still on the books, the judge was obliged to acknowledge its force.

FRIGHTENED HIS WIFE.

Forty Cents Almost the Cause of a Catastrophe.

Before Mrs. Browley was married she scoffed at the misguided girls and women who kept personal accounts. Her argument was that if you know how much money you had and it was all gone what was the use of piling on the anguish by having your folly and extravagance in black and white to stare you in the face, especially as you had no more money at the end of the month than you had without an account book?

But since she has been running a house she has achieved not one but nearly a dozen account books. There is one devoted to the grocery man, another to the butcher, personal accounts take a third, and so on till she spends nearly all her glad young life balancing sums. It is a matter of pride with her that they shall come out even, and so there was woe last month when 40 cents refused to be accounted for. She and Mr. Browley had a grave and lengthy discussion over the missing 40. Each accused the other of frivolling the sum away and neglecting to enter it on the proper book, "Sundries." Mr. Browley insisted strenuously he was not guilty. Mrs. Browley looked pained and urged him to confess. He left for down town vowing vengeance. It was late that afternoon when Mrs. Browley was entertaining a roomful of aristocratic callers that a telegraph boy appeared. The maid brought in the fatal yellow envelope, and at once the bride knew her husband had been fatally injured and was sending for her. Some one revived her with smelling salts, a lady in purple velvet fanned her with a hastily snatched lamp shade, and a third visitor with more presence of mind than the rest opened the telegram. The message read:

"Honest, now, what did you do with that 40 cents?"—Chicago News.

The Breton Peasant.

If there is a country where the tradition of hatred of "the Englishman" as a hereditary enemy still holds it is in Catholic Brittany. In the eyes of the Breton peasants and fishermen the Englishman is the enemy with whom they have fought battles and will fight them again.

That is to say, the Englishman stands for the typical sailor of a man-of-war or torpedo boat, whom they will fight when the time comes for the attack, but no one thinks of him as a man. The enemy is a unit of war, something outside ordinary life, a being in uniform whom it is glorious to kill. He is "the enemy"—something which will do great mischief to France if one does not take care, something which must be much more terrible and dangerous than they can imagine, since all the men of France lose the best years of their youth in learning to kill this eventual adversary.

If ever the peasants come clearly to realize that the only use of war is to kill people like themselves; if ever each soldier becomes capable of imagining what the shock of two armies is and by what complicated series of lies and intrigues peoples are brought to the point of killing each other, the work of peace congresses will be wonderfully simplified.—Contemporary Review.

Reading as a Cure.

The practice of reading aloud at regular intervals is of great benefit to any one affected with a chest complaint. In all cases of lung trouble it is important to indulge in those exercises by which the chest is in part filled or emptied of air, and reading aloud, singing and whistling are three of those exercises.

There are many who cannot sing, and we do not expect the fair sex to whistle, but reading aloud can be practiced by all. Care must be taken not to overdo it, of course, and the body should be in such a position as to allow the chest to have free play.

Reading aloud, if we pay attention to what we are doing, will not only be beneficial from the standpoint of health, but will also have the effect of making us better speakers by teaching us proper modulations of the voice and by increasing our knowledge.

This is where it has the advantage over whistling and singing.

In Extenuation.

A little girl between 4 and 5 years of age came running in from sliding one day and exclaimed to her mother: "Oh mamma, did you see me go down? I went like thunder."

To her mother's astonished question as to whom she had heard say that the little one replied, "Well, mamma, you know you said one day 'as quick as lightning,' and it always thunders after it lightens, doesn't it?"—Boston Christian Register.

So the sergeant major goes to the senior subaltern and gives him the message, and the latter says: 'What! The captain will be away? Then I am off hunting. Tell the second lieutenant to take the men.' And the second lieutenant, who is probably still in bed, says: 'What, both of them away? Then I will stay where I am. I was up till 3 this morning at a dance. Tell the cornet I am ill and he must take the rides.' Finally the cornet remarks: 'Look here, sergeant major, what is the good of my standing out there in the cold? You know all about it much better than I do. You go and take them,' and so it goes, and what must be the end of it all? What can I hope to do with such cavalry before the enemy?"—History of Frederick the Great.

Mr. Jowders looked gloomily at the letter to which he had just painfully affixed his signature and then cast a dubious glance at his wife.

"Do you want to just run this over before I send it to son James?" he inquired, and when Mrs. Jowders shook her head he hastily folded the sheet, which bore the marks of hours of toil, and thrust it into an envelope, which he sealed with trembling expedition and then leaned back in his chair with an air of relief.

"I was afeared you'd want to read it, and then most likely 'twould be all to do over again, mother, like the last one," he said, "but I'm glad James wrote he didn't mind a word misspell-

All but One Peeped In.

When a prominent picture dealer of New York starts the topic of woman's curiosity, his wife always laughs and blushes, for she knows the story that is coming.

"One day," the picture dealer begins, "I decided to close the small exhibition studio which leads from the gallery and put 'Private' on the door just for an experiment. There was an important collection of water colors by one of our best artists in the gallery. I sat at the desk just outside the entrance and presented to each lady a fresh catalogue of the paintings. When she took it, I politely requested her to leave it as she went out.

"This request was complied with in every instance, and I was enabled to notice a most interesting series of coincidences. On every catalogue save one there was in one place or another a little smear of gilding transferred to the paper from the carefully prepared knob of the door marked 'Private.'"

When the story had been accepted, with laughter, by his listeners, somebody is sure to ask, "How about the one catalogue that was undecorated?" To this query the picture dealer has one invariable answer:

"It was the catalogue carried by the young woman who afterward became my wife. She told me that the other women turned the knob merely to see if the door was locked, but she knew that sort of gilding rubbed off, and she had on light gloves."—Youth's Companion.

Out of Children's Mouths.

The teacher of a Sabbath school class, says The Christian Register, approached one little fellow who was present for the first time and inquired his name, for the purpose of placing it on the roll. "Well," said the youngster, "they call me Jimmie for short, but my maiden name is James."

This is a good mate for the naive and somewhat boastful statement of a little girl in a Buffalo household who assured a playmate that she not only had two maiden aunts, but a maiden grand-mother!

Welcomed the Circus.

Howard Paul told an amusing story of his first Italian tour, when a party of 50 were piloted about by Thomas Cook, the founder of the famous firm: "We ascertained that he had arranged at Pisa for a number of open carriages to take us from the railway station to the leaning tower—about the only object of interest there was to see in that archaic place. I telegraphed to the mayor of Pisa that Cook's circus from England would pass through the town and that I desired him to announce it by bulletin on the Mairie and any points where the public would see the notice, that they might extend to the troupe a hearty welcome.

"Not suspecting a joke, the mayor did as I suggested, and when we arrived, entered the coaches and drove in procession through the town the streets were thronged with spectators, who now and then sent up delicious cheers and shouted 'vivas' in demonstrative fashion. Mr. Cook (I rode in his carriage) was astounded at the enthusiasm of the inhabitants and was puzzled to know how they knew the English tourists were coming, as he had only communicated with the station master regarding the vehicles.

"Of course, as the author of the little comedy, I could not enlighten him, and when my American friend and I called on the mayor to thank him for his courteous attention to my requests he gently inquired where the horses were, as the inhabitants would prefer to have seen us mounted. My Yankee partner in the 'sell' was equal to the occasion, and, as he spoke a little Italian, he informed the official that the horses were so numerous they would come on by a later train.

"The secret was well kept, and, as Mr. Cook and none of the tourists were linguists and as we only remained in Pisa three hours, they all departed in wonderment as to why their advent had earned such extraordinary excitement."—Argonaut.

The Postmaster at the Zoo.

The lawyer who evidently considers life one huge, continuous joke entered the clerk's office at the city hall with an expression of extreme radiance overspreading his countenance. The clerks and others having business in the office at the time ceased their several pursuits. Experience had taught them that the aforesaid lawyer would say something of an entertaining character.

"Gather round, boys," he said. "I have a dandy for you this morning."

The speaker paused. The others silently waited for what was coming.

"Now listen carefully," resumed the lawyer, "and note the beauty of the connection between the three sections of this little conundrum. Here it is: 'If the postmaster should visit the zoo and while there be eaten by the wild animals, what o'clock would it be?'"

There was another pause. Finally the clerk in charge of the dockets ventured the answer, "It would be all day with the postmaster."

"Wrong, entirely wrong," commented the lawyer. "I didn't ask what time. I asked what o'clock would it be."

A third pause. Then by general consent the answer was requested. The lawyer gayly announced, "At 6 p. m."

Before the gathering had recovered the lawyer had flitted from the room and was headed for the court of appeals to try the postmaster zoo wild animals conundrum on the higher tribunal.—Washington Star.

Dionysius' Ear.

In Syracuse is a cave said to have been constructed by the tyrant Dionysius, probably used as a prison. It is made in the shape of an immense human ear, and its acoustic properties are most remarkable. Maxwell Sommerville, the author of "Sands of Sahara," visited it and had its properties exhibited to him by the guide stationed there.

The man took a sheet of letter paper and, standing within the portal of the ear, struck the edge of the paper with the forefinger of his right hand once, twice, thrice. Each light tap was repeated through the deep orifices of that stone ear as if it had been a blow with a heavy sledge hammer on the roof of an iron house. He then rattled the paper slightly, and that feeble sound was augmented a millionfold, reverberating through the vaults above and beyond like the crash and roll of thunder. He whistled, spoke and called. Thousands of stentorian voices repeated every sound. Turning to my companion, I said:

"We must not longer tarry. Let us embark. Now we shall go to Kabylia, on our way to the desert of Sahara."

Myriad lungs of stone caught up the last word of each phrase and answered aloud, "Tarry—arry—embark—ark—Kabylia—bylia—Sahara—bara—ara—a—a."

16TH YEAR. NO. 272.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, APRIL 29, 1901.

TWO CENTS

COURT AGAIN IN FULL BLAST

East Liverpool Screen Ordinance
Case Will Be Decided Tomorrow.

GRAND JURY BEGINS ITS WORK

Many Witnesses on Hand to Testify Against Dave Brown, the Assailant of Mrs. Williams—Suit of Stamm vs. the Co-Operative Pottery.

Lisbon, April 29.—(Special.)—The April term of common pleas court opened this morning. Judge Hole has announced that at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning he will hand down his opinion in the East Liverpool screen ordinance case.

A motion was argued today in the case of Mrs. Margaret A. Young against Robert H. Young, of East Palestine, asking that the defendant be required to pay the plaintiff alimony pending a settlement. The court sustained the motion and ordered Young to pay $50 within five days.

In the case of John Stamm against the Union Cooperative Pottery company, of East Liverpool, one of the oldest cases on the docket, the final report of the receiver was submitted and confirmed and distribution ordered. For his services the receiver was allowed $500 and the attorneys $400.

The case of John H. Morrison against Hannah Rudisill et al was settled, at the cost of the defendants.

John Matthews, of Niles, and Miss Margaret McCormick, of Lisbon, were granted a marriage license and were married here today in St. George's Catholic church. They will reside in Niles.

The grand jury was empaneled at 10:15 this morning and began work at 10:30. L. V. Harris, of Salem, was chosen foreman after the court had given instructions. A number of those originally drawn to serve were excused, and John M. Stratton, of Salem; M. V. Dickinson, of Salem township; and Harry Johnson, Lewis Endley and Robert Johnson, of Center township, were called to complete the panel.

The first case to be investigated today is that against the colored youth, David Brown, who brutally assaulted Mrs. Laura Williams, of East Liverpool, recently. Witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear up to Thursday evening.

The firm of Glass & Campbell, of Salem, hold a judgment for $76.67 against Clifford H. Brown, rendered in a Salem court. The judgment has never been satisfied and they have entered suit here to force the sale of lots 852 and 966 in Appraisers' addition, of Salem, and lot B in Zadock's addition of Salem.

W. L. Hoffman was today appointed guardian of Frank Lawrence Mendenhall, of Salem, with $1,000 bond.

Mrs. Emma Bye was appointed guardian of her son, Lemuel S. Bye, and filed $3,000 bond.

Clyde V. Stoffel and Ruth J. Stebens, both of Wellsville, have been granted a marriage license.

Score Was 26 to 6.

A very interesting base ball game was played Saturday afternoon between the Northside Stars and the Blue Stars. Result, 26 to 6 for N. S.

AN EXCITING CHASE

INDULGED IN BY CONSTABLE
MILLER AT WELLSVILLE.

William Moore, Arrested for Non-Support, Tried in Vain to Get Away.

Constable James Miller gave another demonstration of his sprinting ability when he arrested William Moore in Wellsville this morning.

Moore was arrested in Wellsville Saturday afternoon on a charge of non-support preferred by his wife. Constable Miller was about to bring him back to this city, where the charge was preferred, when Mr. Catlett agreed to go on Moore's bond.

As soon as Moore was released he began to brag that he would skip the bond. Mr. Catlett heard of this and sent for Constable Miller again this morning. Miller found Moore in a downtown saloon in Wellsville, and as he passed in at the front door, Moore went out at the rear door on a double quick run. The constable lost no time in getting after him and overtook him after chasing him about two squares down the alley.

Moore says he did it for a joke, but the constable did not like that kind of joking, so he put the handcuffs on the joker and brought him to this city, where he was lodged in jail awaiting a trial before Justice McLane.

NO AGREEMENT.

IS NOW IN SIGHT BETWEEN PLUMBERS AND BOSSES.

Men Claim They Have Made Their Final Proposition to Their Employers.

Unless the members of the Plumbers' union change their minds, which is not likely, between now and tomorrow evening, there will not be a plumber at work on Wednesday.

The members claim they have made three concessions already since the formulation of the scale, and that they will make no further effort toward an amicable settlement unless the employers meet them at least half way.

They have held no meeting, but seem to be of one mind with reference to their actions after tomorrow night.

SHOT IN THE ARM.

ACCIDENT TO GEORGE BARRETT
LAST NIGHT.

Was Examining a Weapon When It
Was Discharged, Making a Painful Wound.

George Barrett was accidentally shot last night near the Thompson pottery. Barrett and a friend were coming down the track and were examining a revolver when it was discharged, the ball striking Barrett in the right arm and making a painful wound.

Barrett was taken to the office of Dr. W. J. Taylor on Second street, who extracted the bullet. He will leave tonight for his home at New Matamoras, where he will remain until his arm is better.

Without Mail for a Week.

Canton, April 29.—Farmers of the district four to five miles northwest of Canton along the Fulton road, have found an unusual storm experience. While Cantonians were able to resume business Monday or Tuesday, little could be done about these farms until Friday. The mail carrier, on horse back, was unable to get through for almost a week.

WHY MR. GEORGE HOLDS RECORDS

The Ex-Engineer Says He Has Refused the City Nothing Belonging to It.

PLANS MADE AT GREAT COST.

Acquired Not by Virtue of Holding Office, But by Hard Labor—City Now
Has Originals or Duplicates of Plans of Uncompleted Streets.

Ex-City Engineer John A. George has the following to say regarding the controversy over the records of his office:

To the Editor of the News Review.

There appeared in the columns of your paper of Saturday evening, April 27, an article headed "George Holds On to the Records," which is misleading, and we feel that it does us an injustice, inasmuch as it places us in a wrong light before the public. Therefore we wish to state a few facts in the matter, that all may understand the situation more fully.

It is well known to the public that we have, both prior to being city engineer and during the time of holding that office, been doing a very extensive business in making private surveys; that now there is no part of the city in which we have not made surveys for private parties, and we have compiled records of the same at a cost of very great labor and very considerable expense, in order that we might be able to do business. These we have acquired, not in any sense by virtue of being city engineer, but by virtue of our own hard labor and diligence in business, and which has never cost the city one cent. These are the only records that "George" refuses to give up.

When we left city hall we left the great bulk of the records of the city there, and in the plainest terms endeavored to impress it on all with whom we had to do that as we examined our records that we would return to the city anything that had been taken by mistake and would so continue until all that rightfully belongs to the city is returned. We have never refused, nor do we now refuse to return to the city anything that belongs there that we may find as we look over the records.

We did make a special effort, however, to see that all the plans of the uncompleted streets were left with the city, so that the work might be taken up and carried on. The city has now in its possession either the originals or exact duplicates of all and anything that we have or had, except what we have in our head.

As to the section of the revised statutes, we simply remark that a person of ordinary intelligence does not need to turn to the law to find out that there is a penalty for stealing, neither does he have to search legal documents to know that in this land of ours the state constitution guarantees to every man the fruits of his honest toil; so that the legal phase of the case gives us no uneasiness whatever.

With malice toward none and charity for all, we are,

Yours truly,

JOHN A. GEORGE.

THE MARKET STOCKED.

Ten Thousand Pounds of Oleo And Butterine Arrive for Local Merchants.

For several days the East Liverpool grocers have been out of oleomargarine and butterine. This morning their supply was replenished. A refrigerator car came in with 10,000 pounds of the artificial butter, consigned to local merchants.

This looks like a big amount, but a prominent local grocer said this morning that the shipment was not an unusual one. About the same amount comes in about every ten days. This means that East Liverpool and vicinity is consuming oleo at the rate of about 1,000 pounds a day.

CHILD IN CONVULSIONS.

Mother En Route to This City Had to Leave the Train Hurriedly.

Mrs. Maria Owens, who resides at New Cumberland, and who had been visiting friends at a down-river town, was a passenger eastbound on No. 360 yesterday afternoon, accompanied by her little two-year-old daughter en route for a continuation of their visit with East Liverpool friends. When nearing Freeman's Station, the little daughter was suddenly thrown into spasms or convulsions, says the Toronto Commercial, and Mrs. Owens was compelled to abandon the train at that point.

A telephone message hastily summoned Dr. Anderson, of New Cumberland, who met the mother and daughter at the Ohio shore and accompanied them home. The physician's efforts were successful, as the little one is reported all right this morning, and will fully recover, although not much hopes were entertained when the child was first taken from the train at Freeman's yesterday afternoon.

CARS OFF THE TRACK.

Traffic on the Street Railway Heavy
Despite a Number of Minor Mishaps.

Owing to the pleasant weather traffic on the street railway lines was very heavy yesterday, and more than the usual number of accidents were reported. Summer car 33 was off the track at Sixth and Franklin in the afternoon, and No. 16 was disabled on the Wellsville road by a broken trolley. The car had to be towed to the barn. No. 36 was off at the old Sixth street switch on Saturday evening, and a number of other accidents occurred at intervals during Sunday.

At 5:30 Saturday evening Car No. 15, in charge of Motorman Hendershot, jumped the track at the east end of the pumping station and ran within a few inches of the building. The car was crowded with passengers and a long delay was caused while the car was being replaced.

WORK AT THE UNION.

Slipmakers Already Employed—Clay
Shops Are to Start Next Month.

Slipmakers were put to work at the Union pottery this morning, and will be engaged throughout the week.

It is the intention of those in charge to begin work in the clay shops next Monday. Robert Hawkins will have charge of this department for the present.

MANY WITNESSES.

Go to Lisbon to Testify Against the Colored Lad, Dave
Brown.

The grand jury convened at Lisbon this morning, and a large number of witnesses from this city are present to testify in the case against Dave Brown, the assailant of Mrs. Dr. Williams, of this city.

NO ROOM FOR BUMS AND VAGS.

Mayor Davidson and Chief Thompson Have Declared Against Them.

CRUSADE BEGAN ON SATURDAY

"Chongeye" Carraher to Go to the Works to Serve Out a $50 Fine.
"Red" Moore Taken This Afternoon—A Few Other Offenders.

Although the uptown streets were thronged with people on Saturday night, there was a marked absence of disorder, and but three unfortunate fell into the hands of the police.

A. P. Gaskill overestimated his capacity for booze Saturday night, and when he met Chief Thompson in the Midway had had a few more drinks than he could comfortably carry. The chief advised him to go home, but he did not heed the warning and was arrested by Thompson not long afterward on Sixth street. He was arraigned this morning and fined $6.60 by Mayor Davidson.

Officer Dawson picked up "Chongeye" Carraher Saturday and placed him in jail. The charge against him is vagrancy.

Chief Thompson and Fireman Wood arrested George Kane on a charge of fighting Saturday night. It was afterward learned that another man had been the aggressor and an investigation is being made today.

Fireman Wood this morning took William Race to the Canton workhouse, where he will remain a good part of the summer.

A son of Charles Morgan, who was arrested on a charge of intoxication last week, appeared at city hall this morning and paid the old man's fine.

Carraher was fined $50 and costs and will go to the works tomorrow. It is stated by the authorities that the vagrants and bums will be proceeded against without ceremony in the future and the practice of loafing upon the street corners will be broken up if they have to send every loafer in the city to the workhouse.

"Red" Moore was run in by Officer Morris this afternoon on a charge of vagrancy. It was the intention of the authorities to send him over to keep "Chongeye" company, but "Red" said he was merely collecting a few pieces of coin he had distributed among his friends. Mayor Davidson gave him until morning to get out of the town. If he is found here in the morning he will go to Canton.

Officer Mahoney and Fireman Bryan caught a crowd of small boys on Thompson's green playing cards. They were brought before the mayor, but it could not be shown that they were playing for anything, and they were released.

POSTAL AUTHORITIES LOOKING FOR A SNEAK.

For more than a year some meddling individual or individuals have been engaged in writing anonymous letters to residents of this city, and recently the practice has reached such proportions that it has been determined to put a stop to it.

It would seem from the train of the letters that the object of the senders was merely to annoy people, but it is believed that there a motive far deeper and more important than appears on the surface.

The person or persons who indulge in the practice seem to take a special delight in annoying and mystifying young ladies. Ladies whose marriages have been announced were their prey and a large number have received letters from an unknown source.

Another class who have been the recipients of these missives are young folks connected with the various departments of church work in East Liverpool. The letters contained threats and phrases which apparently meant nothing.

Within the past three or four weeks the practice has been indulged in with such frequency and persistence that the matter has been referred to the postal authorities and they are now at work on the case.

In an attempt to fix the responsibility for the origin of these letters innocent parties have been blamed, and it has required a great deal of hard work among the officials of young people's societies to prevent the various organization from suffering by reason of accusations and suspicions falling upon members.

It is thought the guilty parties will be brought to justice within a very short time, as the postoffice authorities seldom miss finding the right party.

Postmaster Surles was questioned concerning the matter today, but would not talk of the affair, other than to say that the case was in the hands of the authorities.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEES ARE IN SESSION TODAY.

The conference committees of the Brotherhood and the Manufacturers' association are in session this afternoon.

At the time of the first meeting it was thought the parties to the conference could get together some time last week, but the committee from the Western association stated they would require some time to consider the various demands, and asked a continuance, which was granted. It now looks as if the dispute would be settled one way or the other in a very short time, as the men are perfectly familiar with every detail of the demands they are making and the manufacturers, on the other hand, have had ample time to familiarize themselves with any point that may not have been clear in the beginning.

It is the general belief, however, that the sessions will be continued until tomorrow and probably Wednesday.

EAST END.

PRODIGAL'S RETURN.

Sam Cochran is Back, And Patterson, Who Disappeared With Him, is Coming.

Sam Cochran, who so mysteriously disappeared in company with John Patterson a few days ago, returned to the East End Saturday evening. He stated that he had left Patterson at East Palestine. In conversation with other boys Cochran stated that he and Patterson had started for the west, but that Patterson "craw-fished" by the time they reached Wellsville and wanted to go to Sebring. They tied up the skiff at Wellsville and started for Sebring.

Cochran secured a position in one of the potteries there, but Patterson failed to get work. Cochran wouldn't stay without his chum, so they went to East Palestine, where Patterson stopped to visit a relative and Cochran came on to East Liverpool. The skiff will be returned to Mr. Riley, and the two prodigals will continue to reside in the East End.

NARROW ESCAPE.

A Child Falls Over the River Bank And Has a Narrow Escape.

The three-year-old daughter of George Snowden fell over the river bank and came very near being drowned yesterday afternoon. The bank where the little one went down is very steep and extends to the water. The child rolled about half way down when its foot caught in some roots and it was stopped.

George McKinnon, who happened to be looking after his skiff near there, heard the child's cries and rescued it before it could kick loose from the roots. It had wandered from the house and its parents would probably have not known what became of it had it not been for the timely aid of Mr. McKinnon.

GAS EXPLOSION.

Wrecked a Stove And Gave Miss Anna Ruble Painful Burns.

Miss Anna Ruble, who resides on St. George street, was painfully burned about the face, hands and arms by a slight gas explosion Saturday afternoon. She had turned on the gas in the kitchen stove and was slow in lighting it. The top pieces of the stove were blown off and Miss Ruble's face, hand and arms were exposed to the flames.

Dr. F. F. Davis, who was called, dressed the wounds. They were not serious, but the lady may be scarred by the accident.

Italians' Sunday Diversion.

The Italians who reside on the hill above the Smith addition indulged in a sort of "free-for-all" fight Sunday afternoon. Nobody was much hurt, and the dark-skinned scrappers all stayed away from the 'squire's office, doubtless remembering the last fight which was settled there, when all the participants were equally fined.

Building Dry Run Bridge.

The stone work on the bridge at Dry run was begun this morning. This work will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible, much to the delight of the residents of that vicinity.

Bricklayers Finish Today.

The bricklayers completed their work on the new addition to the Laughlin plant today. This addition will be completed in a very short time.

At Work on the Grading.

The contract for the grading of the first addition of the Supplee Land company was let Saturday and the work was begun this morning.

Three Conversions.

There were three conversions at the Second U. P. church last night.

The house was well filled. The meetings will continue in charge of Rev. A. H. Kaylor.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Rev. J. R. Greene spent the day in Pittsburg on business.

The well at the Laughlin plant is now drilled to a depth of 60 feet.

Frank Allibaugh is having two of his houses on Mulberry street painted.

The kilnhands at the Globe pottery are loafing today, all the kilns being full.

Richard Leroy Chambers attended the National League base ball game at Pittsburg Saturday afternoon.

William Kline, of Sistersville, will move his family and household effects to the East End next Wednesday. He will reside in Helena.

Work on improving the T. F. Anderson property was begun this morning. The bed of Anderson's run will be widened at this point and a new stone wall built.

A GREAT COUNTY.

Columbiana Takes High Rank, and Her Prospects Are Excellent.

Columbiana county ranks among the great counties of the state. It is the greatest county for newspapers outside of the big cities. Our people support six dailies, nineteen weeklies and one semi-weekly. This proves that we are great readers and therefore intelligent. The various manufacturing establishments in the county are carried on with wonderful skill and success. The potteries of East Liverpool, as now conducted, are able to compete with the world. Knowledge and skill have brought this about. The great machine shops at Salem have turned out such excellent machinery that their engines have earned a world wide reputation. The high skill displayed at Lisbon in making tin is acknowledged on all hands and recently an inspector of the great tin trust said: "The Lisbon mill is one of the best in the country and it is conducted by highly skilled men." So with all the other great industries of the county.

No county has so many good towns, East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salem, Lisbon, East Palestine, Leetonia, Salsville, Columbiana, New Waterford, Hanoverton, Rogers, all good towns, some of them exceedingly lively. The population, the business, the wealth of the county excell all others outside the great cities. Let us all join in keeping up the boom for the county and in the next ten years its great resources will be fully developed.—Ohio Patriot.

FATHER SMYTH RECOVERED.

Was Able to Celebrate Mass at St. Aloysius Yesterday.

Father Smyth, who has been ill at his home on Fifth street for the past three weeks, was able to celebrate mass at St. Aloysius' church yesterday morning. He announced the beginning of jubilee on May 3, which lasts until All Saints' day, November 2. He also announced first communion of children on May 12, which will be celebrated by high mass at 8 a. m. and low mass at 10:30 a. m. The Easter collection at the church yesterday amounted to $426.

Port Homer Oil Field.

FOUGHT WITH TRAMPS.

One of Their Opponents May Be Fatally Shot, Another Wounded.

Clearfield, Pa., April 29.—A fight between tramps and a number of the employees of the Clearfield Fire Brick works, near here, resulted in one of the men belonging to the works being fatally shot and another seriously wounded. The tramps and the brick makers met near the Clearfield and Mahoning bridge. Both parties had been drinking and a quarrel ensued.

The tramps opened fire with revolvers, it was alleged, and their opponents, not being armed, responded with stones. G. M. Fadiston was shot through the head and may die. A man named Layton was shot through the legs. A posse was formed by the sheriff of the county and 13 tramps answering the description of those who participated in the affray were run down and placed under arrest.

GEN. CAILLES ESCAPED.

Americans Surprised His Camp, at Dugot-Dugot.

Manila, April 29.—Captain Wilson Chase, with a detachment of the Twenty-first infantry, on April 26, surprised the camp of the insurgent General Cailles, at Dugot-Dugot, situated nine miles northeast of Cavintie, in the province of Laguna. Cailles was at his camp at the time of the American attack, but managed to escape. Captain Chase's force captured his adjutant general, five other of his staff officers, 14 men, 20 rifles large amount of ammunition and stores and all the papers and personal effects of the Filipino general. The insurgent Major Velo was killed during the engagement, as were Corporal McGill and Private Tipps, both belonging to Company A, of the Twenty-first. Several columns of the American troops continued vigorously to pursue General Cailles.

General Cailles recently offered a reward of $10,000 for the head of Captain Edward N. ones, Jr., of the Eighth infantry.

Murdered by an Italian.

Pittsburg, April 29.—Joseph Hoffman, 24 years old, of 856 Lang alley, Allegheny, was stabbed three times by an Italian said to have been Ynamzio Denna, of 1610 East street, Allegheny, and died at the Allegheny General hospital. Denna escaped, but Carnello Bartello, a friend, who was with him and who is said to have been implicated in the killing, was arrested. The scene of the stabbing was near the corner of Hope and Robinson streets, at the north end of the railroad bridge, which crosses at Tenth street. Hoffman met Denna and Bartello, who were pushing a small cart such as Italian fruit vendors use. In some manner a quarrel arose. Just how, no person seems to know. The only man found that could tell is Bartello, and he refused to talk.

FRANK SOUTHERNERS

Dislike Negroes and Do Not Hesitate to Say So, Dr. Parkhurst Asserts.

NORTHERN MAN LIES ABOUT IT

Condemns the Indiscriminating Act of Giving the Negro the Right to Vote—Referred to Alleged Recent Criticism of Governor Candler.

New York, April 29.—The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst preached Sunday at the Madison Square Presbyterian church on topics connected with his recent trip south. He also made an incidental reply to Governor Candler, who was reported as having denounced those northerners who took an interest in educational matters in the south.

Dr. Parkhurst said in part that the party of northern people who recently made the trip referred to did it not because they had any special interest in the south as a distinct section, but because they were conscious of the unity which makes the north and south members of each other. The conference held at Winston-Salem, in North Carolina, he said, was characterized by the utmost frankness on both sides, and yet from first to last not an embittering word was spoken. Referring to Governor Candler's criticisms, Dr. Parkhurst said they would not have been made, "had the governor of Georgia, as did the governor of North Carolina, come into direct touch with the personnel of the conference, or for five minutes respired the atmosphere which the conference exhaled."

Referring to the estimation in which the people of the south and those of the north hold the negro, Dr. Parkhurst said:

"The southerner does not like the negro any better than the average northerner does, and the two carry themselves toward the negro with just about the same amount of Christian consideration—only of the two, the southern white man has perhaps this advantage, that he does not make quite so flamboyant a pretense of loving the negro as his northern confrere does. The southern white man dislikes the negro, and owns up to it. The white man in the north dislikes the negro, and lies about it."

The preacher said further: "The indiscriminating act by which the negroes had conferred upon them the right to vote was one of those blunders that it is not easy to escape from after once it is committed, but which it would seem we ought to have had northern statesmanship sufficiently intelligent to prevent."

He said in part that both the northern and southern friends of the negro were advising him to keep out of politics and to work to prepare himself for what God had in store for him.

TO BUILD SCHOOLS IN SOUTH.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Looked to For Generous Gifts.

New York, April 29.—Great hopes are centered in young John D. Rockefeller for help in the movement started for the rejuvenation of the deficient school system of the south. He has just returned from a ten days' trip to southern educational centers, with a group of distinguished New Yorkers, Bostonians and Philadelphians, who have in this way sought to create a favorable sentiment that may set in motion a movement which is declared to be more important to the south than any in its history since the war. Young Rockefeller was accompanied on his trip by his builder, who made careful notes at certain points on the journey and who has returned to New York prepared to execute the philanthropic plans which the young man of many millions is believed to have formed.

The plan as finally launched marked a radical departure from all former schemes for education in that part of the country. For the first time in history northern men and southern men have joined in a movement for universal education in the south.

The plan is: First—To wage a campaign for universal free schools so as to force the legislatures to make bigger appropriations and to create a sentiment among the people which will demand such schools. Second—The liberal use of money in building up industrial schools and institutions of higher learning. If expectations are realized sums exceeding any former gifts to southern education will be made by men of wealth to carry out the latter feature.

GOV. CANDLER EXPLAINS.

Asserted There Were Many Exaggerations in Alleged Statement.

Atlanta, Ga., April 29.—Governor Allen D. Candler made a statement regarding his reported utterances at Savannah on the negro question, which were sent to many northern papers. The governor said there are many exaggerations in the clippings from the papers which have reached him, but that his remarks as published first in the Savannah paper are substantially correct. "However," said the governor, "the statement that I said that 'the people of the south did not need, did not want, and would not have the assistance of the damned Yankees in this matter,' as published in some papers, is absolutely false."

Buffalo, April 29.—Postmaster Samuel G. Dorr died suddenly of heart disease.

CALLAHAN CLEARED.

Found Not Guilty of the Cudahy Kidnaping—Judge Gave the Jury a Scoring.

Omaha, Neb., April 29.—James Callahan was declared not guilty of any complicity in the kidnaping of Edward Cudahy, Jr.

Judge Baker studied the wording of the verdict for several minutes in silence, as though he had doubted the evidence of his ears. Then, addressing the jury, he rebuked them in the most vigorous terms.

"If Callahan had made his own choice of a jury," the court said, "he could not have selected 12 men who would have served them more faithfully. If the state, for its part, had made the selection, I know of no men it could have named who could have been less careful of its interests. The jury is discharged without the compliments of the court, and the prisoner is likewise turned loose as to this trial, I presume, to continue the criminal practices in which you have failed to check him. I do not know what motive actuated you in reaching this decision, but I hope none of you will ever appear again in this jury box."

The jury evidently was ill at ease during this arraignment, but did not make any response, and filed rapidly from the box as soon as it was at liberty. In the hallway Callahan mumbled his thanks and shook the jury-men's hands.

Chief of Police Donohue said he would urge Mr. Cudahy to at once withdraw the proffered reward of $5,000 for the apprehension of Pat Crowe.

"Crowe might easily make an appearance and claim the reward himself," said Chief Donohue, "as the evidence against him is no more direct than that against Callahan."

"In my 18 years of experience with criminals I have never heard more absolutely convincing evidence than that presented against Callahan."

"There was not a single flaw in the testimony and the evidence of guilt was overwhelming. From the information I have secured as to the sentiment of the jury, I believe that its decision was based largely on the theory that the victim of the affair was a wealthy man and, as such, is able to suffer. Two of the jurors, I am informed, expressed their opinion that no kidnaping had occurred and they had taken their oath as jurors with this conviction in their minds."

"I do not approve of any reward being offered in a case of this kind, and believe that it operated in the Callahan trial for the acquittal of the accused. Several times I heard the expression that the police had simply concocted a plot to send an innocent man to the penitentiary in the hope of securing the reward."

"The $50,000 offered for the conviction of the three men concerned in the crime, however, will stand."

Attempts at Arson Continue Successfully at Akron.

Akron, O., April 29.—William Walker's meat market was destroyed and the East Akron postoffice badly damaged by the eighth incendiary fire in that locality early yesterday morning. Charles Phillips, arrested on suspicion of incendiarism, was released Saturday. The same afternoon the police discovered 16 sticks of dynamite in an old boiler at the Diamond company's property which was recently burned.

Widow Gets $10,000.

Youngstown, April 29.—Conductor Milton S. Heckman, while running a train on the Lake Shore railroad, was instantly killed in an accident, and his widow brought suit here and secured a verdict for $10,000. The company carried the case to the circuit court which has affirmed the judgment. Heckman left a widow and four children in straitened circumstances.

Painting Contracts.

ANOTHER FRIGHTFUL WARNING.

It was a distressingly sad story which the News Review had to chronicle on Saturday regarding the death of a little girl, who had been the joy of a happy household. Caught by cruel flames while engaged in childish play, the little one was condemned to the most agonizing death of which the human mind can form any conception. The end came, not immediately, but after a night of suffering that must have seemed well-nigh endless to the little victim.

The fact that death in this form has become exceedingly common mitigates none of its horrors. This community has been repeatedly shocked in the past few months by such unnecessary occurrences. Certainly unnecessary; for, as the News Review has pointed out before, a few cents' worth of wire, in the form of a screen, stretched in front of fire-places, would prevent nine-tenths of the deaths that result from burning. There should be a law in every state forbidding the use of unprotected grates. It would save hundreds of lives yearly and avert incalculable misery. And law or no law, the householder who does not see that his fire-place has such protection but leaves it as an open death-trap for infancy and helpless old age is certainly censurable. East Liverpool and vicinity have surely had enough of frightful warnings so that everybody ought to be convinced of the necessity of abolishing the unprotected grate.

BRYAN'S AMBITION.

William J. Bryan is credited by Editor Edward Rosewater, of the Omaha Bee, with the ambition of becoming governor of Nebraska. "If elected governor," says Mr. Rosewater, "he will hope to secure a Democratic legislature, in which event he will seek an election to the United States senate to succeed Gov. Detrick, whose term will expire in 1905. From the best information that I can get I really believe that Mr. Bryan will not look for the presidential nomination in 1904."

Editor Rosewater's remarks concerning the political future of Mr. Bryan are interesting. Nevertheless, it should be recalled that immediately after election day last year the New York Sun printed what was alleged to have been an authoritative statement from Mr. Bryan to the effect that if he could not be elected to the presidency no candidate of his party should ever be elected as long as he was alive. At the time this was interpreted to be a threat on the part of Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Bryan, having twice been defeated for the highest office in the land, if he were a good party man, would have the grace to rest on his political oars for a time and let some stronger man try his fortunes. But it is rule or ruin with Bryan. That was made plain by his domination of the St. Louis convention. He compelled that body, against the best judgment of the best Democrats, to reaffirm the Chicago platform, defunct free trade heresy, socialism and all. Bryan will be the whole thing in Democracy or nothing. If his party were wise, he would be nothing. But his party is seldom wise, and he is quite likely to continue his course of obstinacy and pile up more defeats for it. If the Democrats can stand it, Republicans certainly can. But isn't he a nice kind of a man to rule a once-great party?

A MINISTER'S BAD BREAK.

The Rev. Dr. Rainsford, of New York, used the expression "damned rot" in a speech, and is now being called down, both by the press and by his brethren in the ministry. He deserves all the censure he is receiving. Profane language is inexcusable everywhere; it certainly has no place on a minister's lips. People look to men who occupy pulpits to set an example, and one such exhibition of vulgarity and bad taste on the part of a clergyman is likely to more than offset all the good he ever accomplished by his preaching.

A man was fined in East Liverpool the other day for profane and indecent language. The action of the mayor in imposing the fine was most commendable. If the statute which provides a penalty for such offenses were munity, instead, as is generally the enforced more frequently in every community, instead, as is generally the case, of being suffered to rest as a dead letter, it would have a wholesome effect, and ladies and Christian men could walk the street without danger of hearing expressions that shock all their finer feelings. Boys and striplings think it smart to swear. There never was a greater error. Any fool can do it. Instead of marking the man addicted to it as smarter than his fellows, profanity stamps its user as ill-bred and unrefined. And a clergyman who uses such expressions as that attributed to Dr. Rainsford will soon cease to be "reverend" in the popular estimation, whatever title he may wear before his name.

Democrate suspense in Ohio will soon be over and the untirred will know whether they must shout for John R. McLean's man, Tom L. Johnson's man or some other man's man.

There is every prospect that the Maine will not only be remembered but resurrected. She possesses actual as well as historic value.

Russell Sage complains that stocks are too high. He never made any such complaint as long as he had stocks to sell.

The last support of the free trade doctrine will be removed when England rejects it.

REPORTED TO HUMANE OFFICERS

A Kicking Horse's Tail Fastened to the Double-Tree.

A novel plan has been adopted by a teamster engaged in hauling brick up Kossuth street to the Pennsylvania avenue improvement.

One of a team of work horses is a bad kicker and to prevent the animal's antics, the owner has tied the animal's tail to the double-tree and he can be seen kicking and jumping all the way up the hill. The residents of Kossuth street are very indignant and the matter has been reported to the Humane society.

OBITUARY.

John Wheatley.

John Wheatley died at his home on St. George street, East End, at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning, of Bright's disease, from which he has been a sufferer for a number of years. He was 56 years old and is survived by a wife and several children. The funeral will take place Wednesday morning at 8:45 from St. Aloysius church, and interment will be made at the Catholic cemetery.

James Harrison.

George Harrison, of Lisbon street, received word this morning of the death, on April 13, of his brother, James Harrison, of Burslem, England. He was 37 years of age and single. He is survived by one brother and two sisters.

In a later mail Mr. George Harrison received word of the death at Burslem, April 3, of Harry Hobson, a nephew.

A Cat's Extraordinary Leap.

In the latter part of 1880, at a time when the Washington monument had reached a height of 160 feet, an adventurous and patriotic cat ascended the interior of the shaft by means of the ropes and tubing. When the workmen arrived at the upper landing the next morning and began to prepare for the day's work, pussy took fright and, springing to the outer edge, took a "header" of 160 feet to the hard earth below. In the descent, which was watched closely by two scores of men, the cat spread herself out like a flying squirrel and alighted on all fours. After turning over on the soil a few times in a dazed manner she prepared to leave the grounds.

She had got almost beyond the shadow of the monument when a dog belonging to one of the workmen pounced upon her and killed her, she, of course, not being in her best running trim after performing such an extraordinary feat. One of the men procured the body of the dead feline, smoothed out her silky coat and turned the remains over to a representative of the Smithsonian institution, who mounted the skin and placed it under a glass case. The label on the case tells this wonderful story in a few words: "This cat on Sept. 23, 1880, jumped from the top of Washington's monument and lived."

Bound to Have Order.

"My husband is just too ridiculous for anything."

"Why so?"

"Why, he staid at home last night and attended to the children while I went to the club. When I returned, he was sitting on a chair in the corner, a black snake whip in one hand and a revolver in the other."—Indianapolis

Chinese Porcelain.

Chinese porcelain was common in Europe for 400 years before a German potter succeeded in finding out the process of making it. This Chinese pottery is scattered all over the world and everywhere valued, but nowhere was the distribution more curious than in western Canada. Early in the nineteenth century a Chinese junk was cast away on the Pacific coast of America just south of Vancouver island, and its cargo of willow pattern plates fell into the hands of the Hudson Bay company's officers. Still in the remotest trading posts of the fur traders a few fine specimens remain.

Cast iron plows were first made in this country in 1797 and were greatly objected to from the belief that the cast iron poisoned the ground and prevented the plants from growing.

Caught a 26-Pound Fish.

Bloomfield, April 29.—John A. Porter, president of the Farmers' Independent Telephone company, caught a large fish in Cross creek quite unexpectedly. The fish floated out with the high waters into the field and couldn't get back, and Mr. Porter discovered it lying in a pool of water. The fish was three feet and six inches in length, twelve inches thick and weighed 26 pounds. R. J. Ferguson pronounced the fish to be of the carp species and of a superior quality.

LIKED IN EAST LIVERPOOL.

The Renown of the Great Author and Physician Dr. A. W. Chase is Accented by East Liverpool People.

It's by the words of the people that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills have come into such active demand. The announcements for this medicine are not dependent on the testimony of people so far away that they cannot be authenticated. It's home evidence that convinces because easily substantiated. It's the simple statement of things done and told in the words of the relieved.

Mr. H. Rushton, of No. 367 West Market street, East Liverpool, O., says: "Before I used Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Larkins drug store, corner 6th and East Market sts. I was bilious, head felt achy and dull. The effect of the medicine was to regulate the liver, clear the head, give a feeling of strength, energy and new life. This I think justifies a recommendation." Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D. are on every package.

SOUTH SIDE.

RACER FOR A GAME.

THE T. L. & S. BOYS WANT TO MEET KNOWLES TEAM.

Another Challenge Issued by Captain West for a Contest.

James West, the captain of the Taylor, Lee & Smith base ball team, is greatly perplexed because, he says, he cannot arrange for a game with the Edwin M. Knowles pottery team. He says his boys are after the scalps of the Knowles' pottery boys, and that the latter know it and are afraid to make a contest on the field.

In spite of this he again challenges them to a match game on the morning of circus day, May 16, and offers to play for any amount they may name. He is also very anxious to arrange for a game with the Chester team, but that team will not play until after they are equipped with uniforms. They will hold a festival Wednesday evening, at which time they hope to clear enough money for this purpose.

Gossip among Chesterites is confined chiefly to two topics—base ball and politics—the young people talking about the former and the older people discussing the latter.

Still Another Candidate.

R. S. McGlumphy has announced himself as a candidate for council. He is a well known and popular man and his friends say he is a sure winner.

Kicked on the Story.

Probably most writers of serial stories are familiar with the sensation of receiving letters of commendation or disapproval from interested readers who are following up the stories as they appear in their regular weekly or monthly installments. Occasionally some curious person asks for private information as to what the outcome is to be, while others offer suggestions as to the disposition to be made of the villain or express a fear that the author is to marry the hero to the wrong woman.

The writer of a serial story in one of the popular magazines a few years ago received the following letter from an indignant reader. The names are changed for obvious reasons:

Dear Sir—I take the liberty of telling you that I regard your "Simeon Stacy," now running through The Blank Magazine, as a little the thinnest novel I have read. Furthermore, the principal character in the story, to whom you give the title role, so to speak, is so thoroughly detestable a man that I have taken the most effective means in my power to show my contempt for him by changing my name—which happened to be the same as his—to something as unlike it as possible. Yours truly, ANDREW JACOBSON, Formerly Simeon Stacy.

—Youth's Companion.

His Plain Story Won.

An ungroomed man slouched up to Smith in Farnum street the other day and accosted him as follows:

"Say, mister, if I was to tell you that I wanted a quarter to get a square meal you'd think I wanted it to buy whisky, wouldn't you?"

"That's exactly what I would think," replied Smith.

"And if I said I wanted a quarter to buy whisky you'd say you didn't propose to encourage the drink habit, wouldn't you?"

"That's what I'd say."

"And if I said I wanted a quarter to buy food for a starving wife and 11 children you'd think I was a liar, wouldn't you?"

"Well, say, mister, I want a quarter to pay for having me mother-in-law's trunk hauled to the depot. Do I get it?"

Smith effected a compromise by parting with a dime.—Omaha World-Herald.

POLITICAL MATTERS.

An address to the Democracy of Ohio advocating Colonel Kilbourne's candidacy was issued Saturday evening. This has the sanction of Mayor Hinkle, although he did not sign it, and it seems likely that it will rob Lentz of the chance of getting any delegates from Franklin county. Lentz worked so hard to prevent Mayor Hinkle's signing the address as to strain the bonds of their personal friendship almost to the breaking limit, while their political connection has been snapped asunder.

Reform-labeled Democracy, engineered by Tom Johnson, monopolist, capitalist and the fattened favorite of franchise, having as its walking delegate Frank S. Monnett, renegade from the Republican party, is not of a character to appeal strongly to popular confidence. Certainly it is not calculated to impress public intelligence with the quality of its political integrity.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Governor Nash is urging General Thomas M. Anderson, retired as major general of volunteers January 21, 1900, to accept the position of commandant of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Home at Sandusky, to succeed the late A. M. Anderson. General Anderson is considering the matter, and will probably accept an election from the board of trustees.

Mayor Jones, of Toledo, is liable to a fine of $100. The fine will be imposed upon him, and he will have no recourse from paying it, unless he returns to the probate court the certificate that he solemnized two certain marriages.

SHE THREATENED HIM.

What James L. Starkey Says In Answer to Miss Loretta Roberts.

County Auditor James L. Starkey, of Zanesville, well known in this county for his work in settling up the affairs of the First National bank of Lisbon, has filed his answer to the $25,000 breach of promise suit brought against him a few weeks ago by Miss Loretta Roberts, a White Cottage belle. He denies that he ever requested the plaintiff to marry him or that they ever entered into a mutual agreement or promise to marry. He admits that about the month of June, 1900, he did note November of that year as the date of their marriage.

Mr. Starkey claims that prior to and at the time he fixed the date the plaintiff threatened to sue him for a large sum of money as damages for breach of promise on an alleged promise of marriage, and at the same time threatened to charge and publish the defendant of being guilty of a serious crime and to prosecute him for the said alleged crime, the same being a felony, unless he would marry her or pay her $10,000. He says he was not guilty of the crime or crimes, and that all of statements and threats were made to coerce him into fixing a date for said marriage and to force him to marry the plaintiff or pay her the large sum of money named. He says he was forced to fix a date for such marriage solely by reason of the undue influence and threats so made.

The answer has created even a greater sensation than the original suit, both parties being among the most prominent and wealthy in Muskingum county.

White Rose Lodge, Daughters of St. George, will hold an Ice Cream Social in the K. of P. hall Monday evening, April 29. All friends are invited.

His Dim Idea.

A teacher was giving her class an exercise in spelling and defining words. "Thomas," she said to a curly haired little boy, "spell 'ibex.'"

"I-b-e-x."

"Correct. Define it."

At a recent banquet in Sydney a descendant of the Macdonalds massacred at Glencoe passed a knife "with the blade foremost" to a member of a famous old family bearing the historic name of the Macdonalds' betrayers. Most of those who looked on stigmatized the action as one of contemptible bad breeding. But one or two understood the significance and knew that the betrayal is still unforgotten.

The local Odd Fellows and their auxiliary organizations assembled at their hall on Fifth street Sunday morning and marched in a body to the First M. E. church, where they listened to a special sermon delivered by Dr. Clark Crawford. This was the local observance of the eighty-second anniversary of Odd Fellowship in America. The Odd Fellows, in full regalia, numbering perhaps 150, nearly filled the middle tier of seats. There was also a large congregation in addition. The singing was excellent, both at the morning and evening service. To the Odd Fellows Dr. Crawford preached an eloquent and appropriate sermon, taking as his text Ecclesiastes 9:10, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, that do with thy might." He spoke of the elements and motives that make up a life of useful service; complimented the Odd Fellows on the good they have accomplished in the past and pointed out the opportunities for useful work both in the present and in the future. The services were both appropriate and impressive.

The Sons and Daughters of St. George attended divine services at St. Stephen's church yesterday morning. There were fully 100 representatives of the two societies at the church, and a large attendance of the church members, so that the auditorium was completely filled. Rev. Edwin Weary, the rector, preached a special sermon, taking as his theme the Magna Charter, the foundation of freedom for the people of England. It was a discourse full of deep thought and highly interesting as well as instructive. The evening services were also largely attended.

The local camp Sons of Veterans will meet tomorrow evening and initiate several new members. Arrangements will be completed for the trip to the division encampment at Bellefontaine. Two delegates, R. E. Nichols and S. T. Herbert, together with Post Captains F. W. Timmons, C. B. Applegate and O. C. Vodrey, will represent the organization.

Ohio Temple No. 1, Ladies of the Golden Eagle, at their meeting Friday evening, initiated one new candidate and received one application. After business was transacted the male members of the order served the ladies with refreshments and a good time was had until an early hour in the morning.

The social committee of the Jr. O. U. A. M., assisted by the Daughters of America, will hold a musical entertainment in their hall above the postoffice Wednesday evening.

NEW ORGANIZATION

Formed in Trenton by Kilnmen, Dippers And Saggermakers.

Trenton, April 29.—The Times says: A number of local pottersmen held a meeting last night and formed the Kilnmen, Dippers' and Saggermakers' Union of Trenton. Officers were elected and a board of trustees appointed.

It is said the new organization does not meet with the favor of the other labor unions about the city, and that in the event of trouble it will not receive the support of the Central Labor Union. The organization was formed, it is said, by men who were dissatisfied with the present unions made up of the members of their craft.

GANG OF NEGRO BRUTES.

Assaulted a Woman Near Connellsville, Pa.—Her Husband Shot Twice.

Connellsville, Pa., April 29.—A gang of negroes, who attacked J. H. McMillan and his wife in a lonely house near Oliphant, shot the man twice and assaulted brutally the woman.

There were eight negroes, being in the party two black women also. The men burst in the door, dragged Mrs. McMillan from her husband's arms, and carried her out behind an outbuilding, where three men assaulted her. Leaving their victim prostrated, the men gave their attention to the frantic husband, who had been engaged in battle with one or more of the men throughout this terrible ordeal.

McMillan broke from his assailants, and as he darted back into the house the cowards, evidently thinking that he was going for a gun or revolver, drew a bead on him and a bullet pierced his body just below the heart.

McMillan fell at his door, but before fleeing the negroes shot at his prostrate body, another bullet lodging in the fallen man, near his kidneys.

After the negroes had fled the husband lay at his door bleeding and his wife lay unconscious behind the outbuilding about 50 feet away. The woman came to her senses first and found her husband.

Mrs. McMillan gave the alarm to Constable John Laughead, who lived in the house nearest to the McMillans, and immediately a posse was organized to hunt down the black fiends. The posse did not lose much time in getting started over the hills, and in a couple of hours came across Wesley Lewis, one of the assailants, who thought he would elude the officers by hiding in some bushes. He was handcuffed and brought under guard to the Fayette county jail, where he is now behind the bars.

Bessie Wares and Lizzie Jones, the two colored women implicated in the affair, were recognized by Constable Laughead when he was bringing his prisoners on the train, and they, too, were locked up in Uniontown. In the meantime word had spread and County Detective Alexander McBeth, of this place, started for the scene. Constables A. J. Bowie and A. C. Collins, with other officers, and a great number of infuriated white citizens, were scouring the foothills of the Alleghenies in the hope of finding the other five negroes.

Mrs. McMillan was able to recognize her assailants, as was her husband. The names of the negroes who had not been captured are: William Allen, Thomas Walker, John Franklin, Walter Coles and William Lee.

Mrs. McMillan suffered severely from shock and brutal treatment. The colored women were worse than the men in their abuse of the couple. McMillan identified William Allen as the man who shot him, and the officers claimed the three men who outraged Mrs. McMillan were William Allen, Thomas Walker and Wesley Lewis.

THE ST. LOUIS FAIR.

If St. Louis got her $5,000,000 fair appropriation under false pretenses, as is charged, congress should take the grant away, and a movement is on foot to do it.—Buffalo News.

St. Louis will probably not worry greatly over the report that when congress meets next December the law appropriating $5,000,000 for the proposed World's fair at the Mound City is to be repealed on the ground that the fair, which it understood should be held in 1903, is not to take place until a year later. Chicago, it will be remembered, had a similar postponement for a year, and the determination proved a wise one.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

LOST AND FOUND.

I lost a maiden long ago;
Last night I thought I'd found her,
And as my loyal heart's one queen
I quietly recognized her.

'Twould not be truth to say she seemed
Untouched by time, since fairer
E'en than of old I found her face,
The roses in it rarer.

Her halo had more golden grown,
While locks once hyacinthine
Upon my own poor pate, alas,
For many a year have been thin!

The eyes—whose shafts the little god
Employed to overcome me—
Shone brighter. Smiles were on the lips
Whose "No" did once benumb me.

My heart beat high with hope, but when
I spoke her name another
Who stood beside the maid replied,
The maiden called her "Mother."

The matron smiled on me. I dared
Not tell her that I'd sought her
Through long and weary years, at last
To find her—in her daughter!

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP

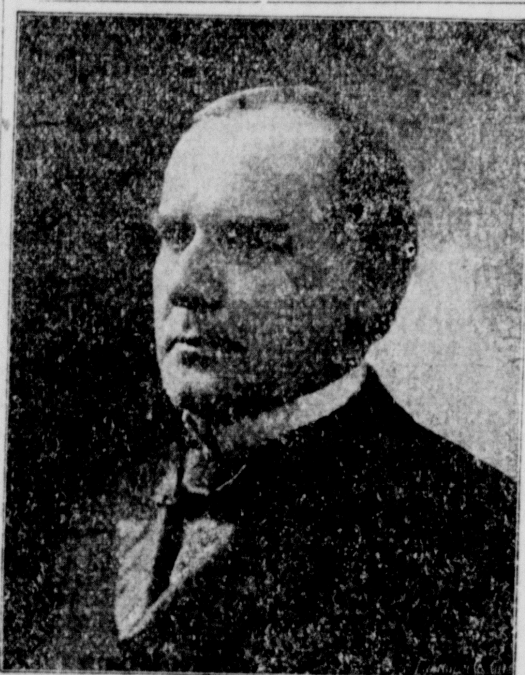

The McKinley Party Will Start Today on the Journey to the Pacific.

MRS. M'KINLEY AND OTHERS GO

To Proceed to New Orleans in Charge of Southern Railway—West by Southern Pacific—The Itinerary Arranged For the Tour.

Washington, April 29.—The president and Mrs. McKinley and party leave today for their trip. The Southern Railway company will have charge of the train from Washington to New Orleans. At this point the party and train will be under the supervision of the Southern Pacific railroad.

The train, which is practically new, is made up of seven cars. The president's own car is the Olympia, on the rear of the train. Next to the engine is the combination baggage and smoking car Atlantic, followed by the new dining car St. James, with a capacity of 40 people. The next two are compartment cars, with seven state rooms and two drawing rooms each, the Omena and Guiana. The fifth and sixth cars, the Pelion and Charmon, are handsome 12-section drawing room cars. The president, it was intended, will retain the Olympia as far as San Francisco, and there, it was intended, will be transferred to the Lucania, said to be one of the finest private cars in existence, in which he may make the return trip to the east. The Olympia is about 70 feet long and has five private rooms and one sofa section and can accommodate nine persons. The Lucania has accommodations for about 13 people. The president and Mrs. McKinley likely will have their meals served in their own car.

Following was the itinerary arranged:

Monday, April 29.—Leave Washington at 10:30 a. m. on the Southern railway. The special train will pass through Alexandria, Charlottesville, Lynchburg and Kianoke, Va. Continuing southward to Alabama it will go through Huntsville, Decatur, Tusculumbia and Corinth, Miss.

Tuesday, April 30.—At 4:30 p. m. arrives at Memphis, Tenn., stopping several hours for a drive about the city.

Wednesday, May 1.—Pass through historic Vicksburg, Miss., Jackson, Miss., arriving at New Orleans, La., at 4:30 p. m. President will attend banquet and deliver address.

Thursday, May 2.—The party will visit historic Cabildo palace and take a boat ride on a Mississippi steamer. In the evening start westward over Southern Pacific railroad.

Friday, May 3.—Arriving at Beaumont, Tex., the president's party will view the famous new oil gusher. The next stop will be at Houston, Tex. Later in the day the president will inspect negro college at Prairie View, Reach Austin, Tex., at 5 p. m.

Saturday, May 4.—Arrive San Antonio, Tex. in morning. President will view historic Alamo.

Sunday, May 5.—Reach El Paso, Tex., and spend Sabbath. Monday morning Mr. McKinley will be greeted by President Diaz, of Mexico.

Tuesday, May 7.—At Phoenix, Ariz., the president will inspect great irrigation canals.

Wednesday, May 8.—Arrive at Redlands, Cal., where governor of state will welcome party. Presidential party will reach Los Angeles in afternoon.

Thursday, May 9.—Will be spent at Los Angeles, Cal., and noted orange-growing district in vicinity.

Friday, May 10.—The executive train will be the first to pass over new coast line railroad to Ventura, Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo, Cal.

Saturday and Sunday, May 11 and 12, will be spent at Monterey and gardens of Del Monte.

Monday, May 13.—At Santa Cruz, Cal., a detour will be made on stages to the giant redwood trees.

Tuesday, May 14.—Arrive at San Francisco, Cal. The president's party will stay here till Monday, May 20, visiting Golden Gate, Mt. Tamalpais and launching of battleship Ohio.

Monday, May 20.—En route to Oregon, stopping at Stockton and Sacramento, Cal.

Wednesday, May 22.—Reach Salem.

Ore., in morning and Portland, Ore., in afternoon.

Thursday, May 23.—Start for Puget Sound, passing through Chehalis, Wash.; Centralia and Olympia, the capital of Washington, arriving at Tacoma in evening.

Friday, May 24.—Take steamer on Puget Sound to Seattle. At night the start will be made eastward on train over Northern Pacific railroad, going through Yakima Valley and Elensburg, Wash.

Saturday and Sunday, May 25 and 26.—At Spokane, visiting the Spokane Falls.

Monday, May 27.—Resume trip east, going through Butte and Helena, Mont.

Tuesday, May 28.—President's party will take stages from Cinnabar, Mont., to Yellowstone National park.

Wednesday and Thursday, May 29 and 30.—Visiting the great geysers, hot springs and canon of the Yellowstone.

Friday, May 31.—Depart for Anaconda and visit great copper smelter.

Saturday and Sunday, June 1 and 2.—At Salt Lake City, Utah, the Mormon capital.

Monday, June 3.—A side trip to the Great Salt Lake and Ogden, Utah.

Tuesday, June 4.—Reach Glenwood Springs, Colo.; cross Continental Divide and pass through wonderful Royal Gorge.

Wednesday, May 5.—Arrive at Denver, Colo., in the morning and proceed north to Cheyenne, Wyo.

Thursday, June 6.—At Colorado Springs, Colo.; take a stage trip through the Garden of the Gods and Manitou Springs.

Friday, June 7.—The president and some of his party will probably ascend Pike's Peak, 14,147 feet high, by cogwheel railroad. Start for the east, going through Pueblo, Colo.

Friday, June 14.—A side trip to Niagara Falls. Depart from Buffalo 10 p. m. on return trip to Washington by way of Delaware Water Gap and Philadelphia.

Saturday, June 15.—Arrive at Washington 5 p. m.

FLEEING FARMERS.

A New Scheme Being Worked By Some Swindlers in Summit County.

Akron, April 29.—A new swindling scheme is being worked in this section by two strangers who represent themselves as being attorneys. It is said that the strangers have reaped a harvest. The fake attorneys dropped into the city several days ago and put up at one of the hotels. After being here a short time they secured a common pleas court docket and from it learned the names of many farmers against whom suits had been brought. With the names of the farmers in their possession they then set to work and secured their address. This was the hardest part of their task, but when they had finished it they at once started out to fleece the farmers.

Deciding on their victim they will drive to his house and introduce themselves as attorneys who are engaged in the business of settling up all kinds of suits. To the surprise of their victim they will tell him all about the suit that has been brought against him. The farmer listens and then becomes interested. The sharpers have not only secured the court dockets, but they have actually been at the court house and have examined the files of a great many cases and are armed for their business. They can settle the case for a certain sum of money, so they say. The amount looks reasonable and in many cases farmers have forked over goodly sums of money. The full extent of their operations has not as yet been made known as an effort is being made to capture them and everything is being handled with much secrecy.

His Wounds Were Fatal.

Akron, April 29.—The funeral of Edward L. Frye took place yesterday. He was shot in the battle Friday morning between Deputy Game Warden Charles Ruckel and Levi Fox, and Frank Wages and himself. He lived just 15 hours after he was taken to the hospital, dying from the effects of five bullet wounds he received during the shooting.

JAMES D. REID DEAD.

He Was Known as "The Father of the Telegraph."

New York, April 29.—James Douglas Reid, known to telegraphers throughout the country as "The Father of the Telegraph," died at his residence in this city. He had been ill for many weeks.

James Douglas Reid was born at Edinburgh, Scotland, March 22, 1819, and came to America in 1834. His entrance into the telegraphic service was in 1845, when he assisted in the organization of the Atlantic and Ohio Telegraph company, for the construction of a series of lines connecting Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Detroit, Cincinnati, St. Louis and New Orleans, the most extensive series projected at that time. Becoming acquainted with Prof. S. F. B. Morse, a mutual attachment sprung up between them, which led to Mr. Reid's appointment as superintendent of the Magnetic Telegraph company, a line line extending from New York to Washington, at the same time retaining his connection with the Atlantic and Ohio company. He entered the service of the Western Union Telegraph company in 1856, where he remained until 1889, when he was appointed United States consul to Dunfermline, Scotland, through the influence of Andrew Carnegie, who as a boy had served as messenger and telegraph operator under Mr. Reid at Pittsburgh. He relinquished this office in 1897. The statue of Prof. Morse in Central park, this city, was erected by the telegraph fraternity through the efforts of Mr. Reid.

BANK STOPS BUSINESS.

Great Excitement Prevailed Among Depositors.

Westerly, R. I., April 29.—Late Sunday afternoon the following notice was issued:

"The trustees of the Mechanics' Savings bank, owing to the doubtful value of some of the bank's assets, have decided that it is for the best interests of depositors that the bank go into liquidation, and action has already been taken looking to this result. Pending the granting of the authority no money will be received or paid out."

This action came as a great surprise to the town, and great excitement prevails among small depositors. The estimated amount of deposits is something less than a million, the securities on their face value something less than $1,100,000, the number of depositors about 2,000. Many of the securities are western investments, which are understood to have decreased in value year by year.

NINE CHINESE TO DIE

Will Be Executed for Robbery and Violence in the American District.

TODAY THEY PAY THE PENALTY

Germans and French Met a Chinese Force and Inflicted on Them a Heavy Loss—Farewell Entertainment to Americans.

Pekin, April 29.—The report of General Ketteler, received here from Kuo Lu, differs from the other reports concerning the German-French expedition, previously received. General Ketteler's report shows that the Chinese troops did not leave the province till they were forced to do so. The entire brigade commanded by General Ketteler met the enemy on April 23 and inflicted immense loss upon them. The report does not give this loss. The Germans had one officer and three soldiers killed and 28 soldiers wounded. The Chinese were forced to leave the province and were fully demoralized. The French authorities stated that the Chinese had crossed the border of the province on April 19, in which case they must have subsequently returned.

Li Hung Chang says it is impossible to believe that General Lui Kwang Ting would have so flagrantly disobeyed his orders, and anxiously awaits the Chinese report of the encounter referred to by General Ketteler.

Li Hung Chang paid return calls to the different legations and congratulated Commissioner Rockhill on the stand taken by Americans on indemnity. It is not generally thought among the ministers of the powers that Mr. Rockhill's efforts in this direction will prove successful, though most of them admit that they must be guided in the matter by the instructions they receive from their home governments.

Nine Chinamen will be executed today in the American district for highway robbery and violence. The men in question were tried and sentenced according to Chinese law, but they are the first of such sentences to be approved by General Chaffee.

General Gaslee, the British commander, the officers of his staff, and the entire British contingent gave a farewell entertainment to the American officers. All officers who were not actually on duty were present and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed. Speeches were made by General Gaslee and General Chaffee only. It is said at German headquarters that the brigade of General Ketteler is returning to Pao Ting Fu.

CHILDREN TIED TO HER BACK.

Slav Woman Arrives at Bellaire Seeking Her Husband.

Bellaire, April 29.—A Slav woman, direct from her native heath, unable to speak a word of English, arrived here in search of her husband, who she said had come here to work in the National Steel Works several months ago. She carried two children, one 8 and the other 3 years old, strapped to her back, and though she traveled several miles, declared she was not tired, and would not let the children down. She will go from here to Wheeling Creek, and thence to Mingo Junction if the husband is not found.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE.

Convention to Be Held in Rochester, N. Y.—Some of the Speakers Expected.

Philadelphia, April 29.—The seventh annual meeting of the National Municipal league and the ninth conference for good city government will be held in Rochester, N. Y., May 8, 9 and 10.

The theme of this year's meeting will be "Uniformity in Municipal Accounting." It will be introduced at the Friday afternoon session in a report submitted by Dr. Edward N. Hartwell, of the Boston statistical bureau, who is chairman of the committee appointed to complete the data.

A subject to which the league has given considerable attention is instruction in municipal government in American educational institutions. The report of a committee appointed to familiarize itself with these matters will be presented Thursday morning by President Thomas M. Drown, of Lehigh university, who is chairman of the committee.

The work of the American Society of Municipal Improvements and of the League of American Municipalities will be set forth in detail before the conference. Primary election reform and recent charter legislation are matters that may also receive their share of attention.

FIVE PERSONS PERISHED.

One a Babe Born During the Fire. Negro Accused of Incendiarism.

Houston, Texas, April 29.—In a fire which destroyed a livery stable and three residences five persons were burned to death, Job Copping, a florist, his wife and three children. A negro has been arrested on the charge of having started the fire to get revenge on his employer for having discharged him. In the ruins were found the bodies of the victims, among them being an infant which had been born to Mrs. Copping during the progress of the fire. Its body was found with its mother. Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hopper jumped from the burning building and both were badly injured.

The fire started in a livery stable over which several families lived, and the building was a mass of flames when the firemen arrived. A crippled widow, Mrs. Thompson, escaped from the building and says she saw the Copping family run back into their room from the hallway and that was the last seen of them alive. The Hoppers were cut off from escape by the stairs and jumped. Mr. Hopper's leg being fractured and Mrs. Hopper receiving internal injuries.

COL. A. K. MCCLURE, THE VETERAN EDITOR WHO HAS RETIRED.

For more than half a century Colonel McClure has been in the editorial harness. During half of that time he has been editor in chief of the Philadelphia Times, which was founded in 1875. He is also well known as a lecturer, having spoken from many platforms in various cities from coast to coast. Although he has now reached the age of 73, his retirement as editor of The Times is due rather to circumstances than to his own wishes.

DEATH OF REV. DR. PORTER.

Suddenly Passed Away at Easton After Writing to His Executor.

Easton, Pa., April 29.—Rev. Thomas Conrad Porter, D. D., LL. D., professor emeritus of botany, zoology and general geology at Lafayette college, died suddenly. He had been in failing health for some time, but was down in the city Saturday. Just before his death he had finished writing a letter to the executor of his will.

Dr. Porter was born in Alexandria, Pa., Jan. 22, 1822. He graduated at Lafayette in 1849, and entered the ministry in 1843, preaching at Reading until 1849, when he went to Franklin and Marshall college, Lancaster.

He came to Lafayette, where he was a conspicuous member of the faculty to the day of his death.

Dr. Porter was an authority in botany and geology and a writer of verse.

Died After Being Burned.

Easton, Pa., April 29.—While at work in his shooting gallery here William Whitley was seized with a fit and fell over a row of coal oil lamps. His clothes caught fire and he was nearly dead before the police broke in the door. He died in the hospital a few hours later. His home was at Passaic, N. J.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

Signs of Spring—The barefoot boy and the straw hat are both in evidence today.

Moved From Irondale—The household goods of Carl Parrizica were received at the freight station Saturday from Irondale.

Decorators Idle—The employees of the decorating department of the Severs China company were compelled to loaf today, there being no ware.

Moved to Town—The household goods of W. G. Calhoun were received at the freight station Saturday from Beaver Falls. Mr. Calhoun will reside on Railroad street.

Preached to Presbyterians—Dr. William Gaston, of Cleveland, occupied the pulpit at the First Presbyterian church yesterday, and preached an eloquent and forceful sermon.

In Convulsions—The 18-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nagle, Sixth street, is very ill. The little one was in convulsions all of Saturday night, but is somewhat improved today.

A Game With the Kiskis—A game of base ball has been arranged between the Phoenix team of this city and the Kiskiminetas club. The Phoenix boys will go to Saltsburg to play the game on May 14.

Summer Hours for Churches—Commencing with next Sunday all church services will be commenced at 8 o'clock, and the young peoples' meetings at 6:45. This will continue throughout the summer months.

Sued on a Grocer's Bill—Suit has been entered in the court of Justice Rose by Samuel Ward against Edgar Thorn for a bill amounting to $17.91 claimed due for groceries sold and delivered. The case will be heard tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.

Taken East for Burial—The remains of Mary Gordon, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis T. Shriver, whose death was caused by burns, which she received at her home on Drury lane Friday night, were taken to Mechanicsburg, Pa., on the 5 o'clock train this morning, for burial.

Taken to His Home—Thomas Chambers, who is ill with appendicitis, on Saturday afternoon was taken to his home in New Brighton. Chambers is a baker and came here two weeks ago and accepted a position with Jesse Fisher. He was taken ill on Thursday and it was thought best to send him home.

Out of Children's Mouths.
The teacher of a Sabbath school class, says The Christian Register, approached one little fellow who was present for the first time and inquired his name, for the purpose of placing it on the roll. "Well," said the youngster, "they call me Jimmie for short, but my maiden name is James."

This is a good mate for the naive and somewhat boastful statement of a little girl in a Buffalo household who assured a playmate that she not only had two maiden aunts, but a maiden grand-mother!

Welcomed the Circus.

Howard Paul told an amusing story of his first Italian tour, when a party of 80 were piloted about by Thomas Cook, the founder of the famous firm: "We ascertained that he had arranged at Pisa for a number of open carriages to take us from the railway station to the leaning tower—about the only object of interest there was to see in that archaic place. I telegraphed to the mayor of Pisa that Cook's circus from England would pass through the town and that I desired him to announce it by bulletin on the Mairie and any points where the public would see the notice, that they might extend to the troupe a hearty welcome.

"Not suspecting a joke, the mayor did as I suggested, and when we arrived, entered the coaches and drove in procession through the town the streets were thronged with spectators, who now and then sent up delirious cheers and shouted 'vivas' in demonstrative fashion. Mr. Cook (I rode in his carriage) was astounded at the enthusiasm of the inhabitants and was puzzled to know how they knew the English tourists were coming, as he had only communicated with the station master regarding the vehicles.

"Of course, as the author of the little comedy, I could not enlighten him, and when my American friend and I called on the mayor to thank him for his courteous attention to my requests he gently inquired where the horses were, as the inhabitants would prefer to have seen us mounted. My Yankee partner in the 'sell' was equal to the occasion, and, as he spoke a little Italian, he informed the official that the horses were so numerous they would come on by a later train.

"The secret was well kept, and, as Mr. Cook and none of the tourists were linguists and as we only remained in Pisa three hours, they all departed in wonderment as to why their advent had earned such extraordinary excitement."—Argonaut.

The Postmaster at the Zoo.

The lawyer who evidently considers life one huge, continuous joke entered the clerk's office at the city hall with an expression of extreme radiance overspreading his countenance. The clerks and others having business in the office at the time ceased their several pursuits. Experience had taught them that the aforesaid lawyer would say something of an entertaining character.

"Gather round, boys," he said. "I have a dandy for you this morning."

The speaker paused. The others silently waited for what was coming. "Now listen carefully," resumed the lawyer, "and note the beauty of the connection between the three sections of this little conundrum. Here it is: If the postmaster should visit the zoo and while there be eaten by the wild animals, what o'clock would it be?"

There was another pause. Finally the clerk in charge of the dockets ventured the answer, "It would be all day with the postmaster."

"Wrong, entirely wrong," commented the lawyer. "I didn't ask what time. I asked what o'clock would it be."

A third pause. Then by general consent the answer was requested. The lawyer gayly announced, "At 6 p. m."

Before the gathering had recovered the lawyer had drifted from the room and was headed for the court of appeals to try the postmaster zoo wild animals conundrum on the higher tribunal.—Washington Star.

Dionysius' Ear.

In Syracuse is a cave said to have been constructed by the tyrant Dionysius, probably used as a prison. It is made in the shape of an immense human ear, and its acoustic properties are most remarkable. Maxwell Sommerville, the author of "Sands of Sahara," visited it and had its properties exhibited to him by the guide stationed there.

The man took a sheet of letter paper and, standing within the portal of the ear, struck the edge of the paper with the forefinger of his right hand once, twice, thrice. Each light tap was repeated through the deep orifices of that stone ear as if it had been a blow with a heavy sledge hammer on the roof of an iron house. He then rattled the paper slightly, and that feeble sound was augmented a millionfold, reverberating through the vaults above and beyond like the crash and roll of thunder. He whistled, spoke and called. Thousands of stentorian voices repeated every sound. Turning to my companion, I said:

"We must not longer tarry. Let us embark. Now we shall go to Kabylia, on our way to the desert of Sahara."

Myriad lungs of stone caught up the last word of each phrase and answered aloud, "Tarry—arry—embark—ark—Kabylia—bylia—Sahara—hara—ara—a—a."

England's Tippling Act.

A queer English law, called the "tippling act of 1751," provides that an innkeeper cannot recover for debts for liquor amounting to more than $5. The son of an eminent English throat specialist lately ran up a bill of $250 at an English public house and based a refusal to pay upon the validity of this act. As the statute was still on the books, the judge was obliged to acknowledge its force.

FRIGHTENED HIS WIFE.

Forty Cents Almost the Cause of a Catastrophe.

Before Mrs. Browley was married she scoffed at the misguided girls and women who kept personal accounts. Her argument was that if you know how much money you had and it was all gone what was the use of piling on the anguish by having your folly and extravagance in black and white to stare you in the face, especially as you had no more money at the end of the month than you had without an account book?

But since she has been running a house she has achieved not one but nearly a dozen account books. There is one devoted to the grocery man, another to the butcher, personal accounts take a third, and so on till she spends nearly all her glad young life balancing sums. It is a matter of pride with her that they shall come out even, and so there was woe last month when 40 cents refused to be accounted for. She and Mr. Browley had a grave and lengthy discussion over the missing 40. Each accused the other of frivolling the sum away and neglecting to enter it on the proper book, "Sundries." Mr. Browley insisted strenuously he was not guilty. Mrs. Browley looked pained and urged him to confess. He left for down town vowing vengeance. It was late that afternoon when Mrs. Browley was entertaining a roomful of aristocratic callers that a telegraph boy appeared. The maid brought in the fatal yellow envelope, and at once the bride knew her husband had been fatally injured and was sending for her. Some one revived her with smelling salts, a lady in purple velvet fanned her with a hastily snatched lamp shade, and a third visitor with more presence of mind than the rest opened the telegram. The message read: "Honest, now, what did you do with that 40 cents?"—Chicago News.

The Breton Peasant.

If there is a country where the tradition of hatred of "the Englishman" as a hereditary enemy still holds it is in Catholic Brittany. In the eyes of the Breton peasants and fishermen the Englishman is the enemy with whom they have fought battles and will fight them again.

That is to say, the Englishman stands for the typical sailor of a man-of-war or torpedo boat, whom they will fight when the time comes for the attack, but no one thinks of him as a man. The enemy is a unit of war, something outside ordinary life, a being in uniform whom it is glorious to kill. He is "the enemy"—something which will do great mischief to France if one does not take care, something which must be much more terrible and dangerous than they can imagine, since all the men of France lose the best years of their youth in learning to kill this eventual adversary.

If ever the peasants come clearly to realize that the only use of war is to kill people like themselves; if ever each soldier becomes capable of imagining what the shock of two armies is and by what complicated series of lies and intrigues peoples are brought to the point of killing each other, the work of peace congresses will be wonderfully simplified.—Contemporary Review.

Reading as a Cure.

The practice of reading aloud at regular intervals is of great benefit to any one affected with a chest complaint. In all cases of lung trouble it is important to indulge in those exercises by which the chest is in part filled or emptied of air, and reading aloud, singing and whistling are three of those exercises.

There are many who cannot sing, and we do not expect the fair sex to whistle, but reading aloud can be practiced by all. Care must be taken not to overdo it, of course, and the body should be in such a position as to allow the chest to have free play.

Reading aloud, if we pay attention to what we are doing, will not only be beneficial from the standpoint of health, but will also have the effect of making us better speakers by teaching us proper modulations of the voice and by increasing our knowledge.

This is where it has the advantage over whistling and singing.

In Extenuation.

A little girl between 4 and 5 years of age came running in from sliding one day and exclaimed to her mother: "Oh, mamma, did you see me go down? I went like thunder."

To her mother's astonished question as to whom she had heard say that the little one replied, "Well, mamma, you know you said one day 'as quick as lightning,' and it always thunders after it lightens, doesn't it?"—Boston Christian Register.

An Indo-Chinese Venice.

The royal palaces of Bangkok form a city in themselves. They consist of several hundred individual palaces, surrounded by magnificent gardens and pagodas. Bangkok is really a city of waters. It is an Indo-Chinese Venice. More people live in floating homes on the Menam, "the Nile of Siam," and in many canals than in permanent buildings.

Knew All Their Tricks.

"Gentlemen," said Frederick the Great, "I am entirely dissatisfied with the cavalry. The regiments are completely out of hand; there is no accuracy, no order; the men ride like tailors. I beg that this may not occur again and that each of you will pay more attention to his duty, but I know how things go on. You think I am not up to your dodges, but I know them all and will recapitulate them.

"When the season for riding drill comes on, the captain sends for the sergeant major and says: 'I have an appointment this morning at —. Tell the first lieutenant to take the rides.' So the sergeant major goes to the senior subaltern and gives him the message, and the latter says: 'What! The captain will be away? Then I am off hunting. Tell the second lieutenant to take the men.' And the second lieutenant, who is probably still in bed, says: 'What, both of them away? Then I will stay where I am. I was up till 3 this morning at a dance. Tell the cornet I am ill and he must take the rides.' Finally the cornet remarks: 'Look here, sergeant major, what is the good of my standing out there in the cold? You know all about it much better than I do. You go and take them,' and so it goes, and what must be the end of it all? What can I hope to do with such cavalry before the enemy?"—History of Frederick the Great.

By Main Strength.

Mr. Jowders looked gloomily at the letter to which he had just painfully affixed his signature and then cast a dubious glance at his wife.

"Do you want to just run this over before I send it to son James?" he inquired, and when Mrs. Jowders shook her head he hastily folded the sheet, which bore the marks of hours of toil, and thrust it into an envelope, which he sealed with trembling expedition and then leaned back in his chair with an air of relief.

"I was afeared you'd want to read it, and then most likely 'twould be all to do over again, mother, like the last one," he said, "but I'm glad James wrote he didn't mind a word misspelled here and there. There's some things I can do, but I never could seem to get a good purchase on the system of spelling, some way.

"As I view it," continued Mr. Jowders, "there's some words you can spell by the looks and some you can spell by the sound. Them I can most gen'ally manage, but when you come to spelling by judgment and main strength my chances are about as slim as they make 'em."—St. Louis Republic.

All but One Peeped In.

When a prominent picture dealer of New York starts the topic of woman's curiosity, his wife always laughs and blushes, for she knows the story that is coming.

"One day," the picture dealer begins, "I decided to close the small exhibition studio which leads from the gallery and put 'Private' on the door just for an experiment. There was an important collection of water colors by one of our best artists in the gallery. I sat at the desk just outside the entrance and presented to each lady a fresh catalogue of the paintings. When she took it, I politely requested her to leave it as she went out.

"This request was complied with in every instance, and I was enabled to notice a most interesting series of coincidences. On every catalogue save one there was in one place or another a little smear of gilding transferred to the paper from the carefully prepared knob of the door marked 'Private.'"

When the story had been accepted, with laughter, by his listeners, somebody is sure to ask, "How about the one catalogue that was undecorated?" To this query the picture dealer has one invariable answer:

"It was the catalogue carried by the young woman who afterward became my wife. She told me that the other women turned the knob merely to see if the door was locked, but she knew that sort of gilding rubbed off, and she had on light gloves."—Youth's Companion.
